Fifth Body Found On Ship

South Carolina Pair Feared Fire Victims

TADOUSSAC, Que. (CP)—The wreckage of the St. Lawrence River cruise ship Quebec which burned here Monday night gave up another body today. This brought death toll to five.

Early Wednesday night the fourth body, believed to be that of a woman, was recovered by police from the Canada Steamship Lines pleasure vessel.

Dies Of Burns Suffered When Clothes Afire

Burns received when his lighted cigarette set fire to his clothing late Tuesday night were fatal to 75-year-old Colin William Leslie Chalmers.

Completely swathed in bandages when 80 per cent of the surface of his body received burns from the blazing inferno caused by his clothes, he died in the Royal Jubilee Hospital Wednesday afternoon.

Born in London, England, the late Mr. Chalmers had been a resident of the city for 23 years. He had been living at a boarding house, 2317 Fernwood Road. His rescuer, Joe Sirdinski, 31, proprietor of the boarding house, saved the aged man from immediate death Tuesday night when he rushed upstairs in answer to screams from the victim, and wrapped him in blankets, smothering the blaze.

Sirdinski received severe burns to both hands, but was released from hospital Wednesday evening. Mr. Chalmers is survived by his wife, Neneia; two daughters, Mrs. Marjorie Harrington and Mrs. Elizabeth Coleman of Victoria; three sons, Alan, Colin and William of Victoria; one brother, Eric B. Chalmers; one niece and two nephews.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later by McCall Bros.

Union Certified For B.C. Seamen

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canada Labor Relations Board has certified the West Coast Seamen's Union (Canada) as bargaining agent for a unit of unlicensed personnel of Westward Shipping Ltd., in Vancouver, the Department of Labor announced today.

The men are employed on the motor vessels Standard Service and B.C. Standard.

Greek Government Faces Collapse

ATHENS (AP)—Sophocles Venizelos announced today that five Liberal Party ministers will resign from the government—an action that means collapse of the coalition cabinet formed last April under Premier Nicholas Plastiras.

Venizelos, the Liberal Party leader, has demanded Plastiras' resignation. Plastiras had been under fire because of his insistence that Communists convicted of treason be granted amnesty.

The fifth was located not far away by a wrecking and salvage crew working over the burned hulk of the 7,000-ton ship from which more than 400 passengers and 150 crew members disembarked amid smoke and flames Monday evening.

The fifth body was described as being "whole."

One source said the bodies are believed to be those of a South Carolina doctor and his wife.

At first Canada Steamship Lines announced everybody aboard the stricken vessel had been accounted for. Even as the company continued to insist this was so, newspapermen learned that three persons were missing and later three bodies—those of a man, a woman and a child—were discovered.

They were tentatively identified as Mr. and Mrs. Norman Shapiro of the town of Mount Royal, Que., and son, Leonard. Another Shapiro boy, Bernard, escaped.

C.S.L. officials, asked by the Canadian Press for any information on a South Carolina doctor and his wife named McConnell or some similar name, admitted that a Dr. McCollum of Clemson, S.C., and his wife are not accounted for.

At this time provincial police said they had been advised by C.S.L. that two United States passengers of the fire-wrecked cruise ship have not been located.

Discovery of the two new victims was made shortly before the twisted, water-filled hull was to have been towed from this lower St. Lawrence port to Lauzon, near Quebec City, where the Quebec was built.

Another search of the ship will be made before tugs take her in tow for her last trip out of the Saguenay.

Company Bans Red Shipments

NEW YORK (AP)—The United States Lines has placed an embargo on all Russian shipments after Boston longshoremen refused to unload one of its vessels carrying $350,000 worth of Russian crabs.

On Monday New York city stevedores refused to unload a $250,000 crabmeat cargo from the Cunard liner Parthia. The longshoremen then adopted a resolution not to handle goods coming from Russia.

Wednesday, A.F.L. longshoremen in Boston would not take off the $350,000 cargo from the U.S. Lines' American Manufacturer. The ship is en route to New York with the crabmeat still aboard, but a company official said:

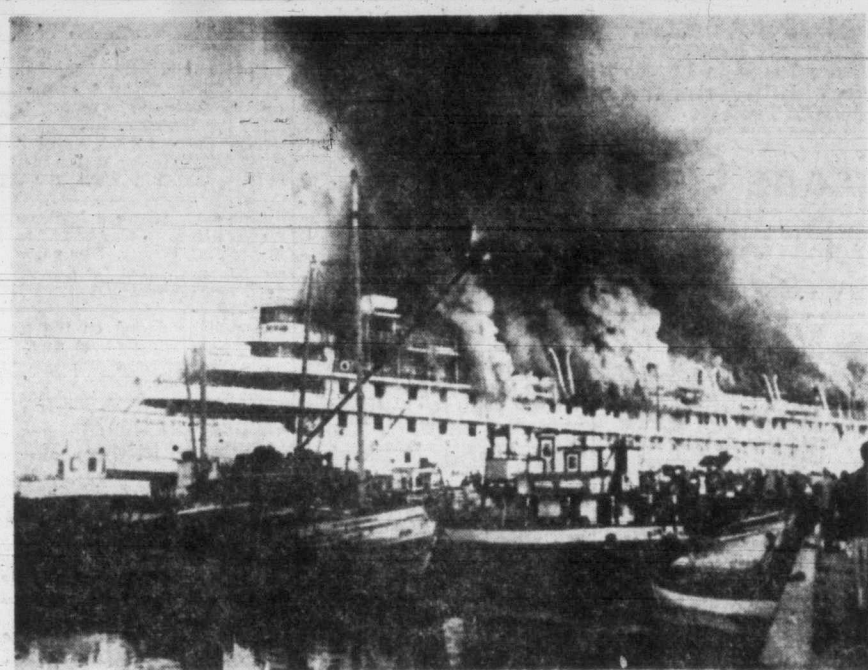

"The United States Lines will not knowingly handle henceforth any cargo out of or to Soviet Russia directly or indirectly."

Radio Inquiry Ends

LONDON (CP)—A fact-finding commission, headed by Lord Beveridge, has completed its inquiry into the future of broadcasting in Britain. More than 200 witnesses were heard during the 10 months of evidence-taking, all selected spokesmen of nearly 2,600 that applied to appear before the commission.

Malik Summons Surprise Meeting

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y. (UP)—Soviet delegate Jacob A. Malik summoned a surprise secret meeting of members of the United Nations Security Council for 2 p.m. today. No reason was given for the sudden call.

Cruise Vessel Aflame At Quebec Port

Tied to dock at Tadoussac, P.Q., nearly 150 miles down St. Lawrence River from Quebec City, cruise ship Quebec is swept by flames of fire which broke out Monday afternoon while vessel was half an hour upstream from Tadoussac. She was rushed to north shore port, where 400 passengers and 125 crewmen were removed. Five bodies were discovered in hull of wrecked steamer.—(CP Photo)

3 Poles Quit Embassy In Washington

By DONALD J. GONZALES

WASHINGTON (UP)—Three high ranking officials of the Polish Embassy have resigned in defiance of the present Polish government, it was learned today.

State Department officials confirmed that requests for asylum from Communist rule had been received from Minister Janusz Zoltowski, Embassy Counselor Stefan Rogozinski and Wladyslaw Nizinski, Embassy Second Secretary. Zoltowski was Poland's top financial representative in this country.

The trio of defections rattled the high command of the Polish Embassy. They quit at various stages in recent weeks.

The State Department's latest issue of its monthly diplomatic list shows that only two other Polish diplomats are still at their posts. These are Ambassador Jozef Winiewicz and Zigmunt Litvinski, Embassy commercial counselor.

Speaking for himself and Nizinski, Rogozinski told the United Press the three men decided to quit their jobs when they were ordered to return to Poland. It was understood that Zoltowski is residing in New York.

Red China, R.N. Duel With Guns

HONGKONG (AP)—The British destroyer Concord and Chinese Communist shore batteries fought a 30-minute gun duel today at the approaches to Hongkong.

It was the second clash between British warships and Red artillerymen in the area. After the Concord battle it was officially reported the navy frigate Whitehead Bay exchanged fire Aug. 2 with gun emplacements on Ling-tung Island.

The Concord said it fired in self-defense after Red guns on Taitai, Puntin and Lingting Islands opened up.

Royal Navy officers said there was one minor casualty and no damage to the ship as it steamed into Hongkong.

Red shore batteries have been quick to fire on ships recently. On three successive days last week merchant ships were shelled. These were British, American and Norwegian vessels.

It was estimated the Reds fired three-pounders at the Concord. The destroyer fired its much more powerful 4.7-inch guns.

This was the first reported exchange of gunfire between a British warship and the Chinese Communists since April, 1949. At that time, the cruiser London, the destroyer Consort and the frigates Black Swan and Amethyst came under Communist shore fire in the Yangtze River. In all, 43 British sailors were killed and more than 80 wounded in the 1949 engagement.

A naval spokesman said he was unable to answer such questions as how far the Concord was from Chinese territory.

The Chinese fired first from Taitai. Then Red guns on Puntin and Lingting opened up on the Concord moved along.

These islands are about 12 miles south of Hongkong and six miles west of the spot where the American freighter Steel Rover, the British merchantman Hangsang and the Norwegian freighter Pleasantville were fired on last week.

It was reported Wednesday that the Chinese Reds have warned all foreign ships and planes not to infringe on Chinese territory.

The naval spokesman said he could not disclose where the Concord had been.

Hunt Winnipeg For Dangerous Radium Vial

WINNIPEG (BUP)—A search of Winnipeg streets Wednesday failed to locate a capsule containing radium which may prove harmful if carried by a person for too long a time.

The radium vial was lost somewhere between Winnipeg General Hospital and the Cancer Relief and Research Institute (442 William Avenue). Police say a truck was delivering four radium capsules in a steel box to the research institute Wednesday afternoon. When the truck arrived at the cancer institute, the steel box was found on its side and one of the capsules was missing.

A delicate instrument—known as a scintillometer—which is used to detect radioactive substances such as radium—was carried along route taken by the truck. But no trace was found of the one-and-one-half-inch-long dirty-white plastic vial. Doctors say a person who may have picked up the capsule would not be hurt right away. But effects of the radium will be harmful after a few hours.

Red Divisions Launch Attack Toward Taegu

U.S. Forces Slash Reds On Nakdong

TOKYO (UP)—Three Communist divisions launched an offensive toward the Korean emergency capital of Taegu along a 15-mile front today and drove the South Korean defenders back two to three miles in some sectors.

Southwest of Taegu, U.S. marines and infantry slashed into the Communist bridgehead in the elbow of the Nakdong River in what was described from the field as the second big American offensive push of the war.

The two battles appeared to mark the start of a showdown along the Nakdong and on the approaches of Taegu.

The 1st Marine Brigade captures a strategic height at the southeast corner of the Nakdong bridgehead in the first hours of the offensive. The U.S. 24th Division overran Communist positions on the northern end of the pocket.

But U.S. 8th Army headquarters reported that the North Korean drive toward Taegu made that sector at the northwest corner of the Allied beachhead in Korea "the most serious one."

United Press correspondent Rutherford Poats reported from 8th Army headquarters that the Communists opened their big push between Waegwan and Kunwi, and aimed it squarely at Taegu. Waegwan is 12 miles northwest of Taegu, on the Nakdong River, and Kunwi is 25 miles north of the capital.

TANKS ADVANCE

Tanks led the Communist advance, and a heavy artillery bombardment softened up the Korean Republic positions ahead of it.

U.S. air force scouts reported that the front flamed for the whole 15 miles, and the enemy had moved forward two to three miles in unspecified sectors of the front.

The North Koreans apparently had shifted strength from the U.S. 1st Cavalry front around Waegwan to the north and east, expecting to find less resistance by the Korean Republicans.

The penetration of two to three miles would put the Communist vanguard north of Taegu some 17 miles from the capital, depending on just where the biggest gains were made.

PERSHING'S SCORE

A late dispatch from the Nakdong bridgehead area reported that Pershing tanks of the Marine detachment knocked out three Communist tanks in a clash at twilight on the southern rim of the pocket.

It said the Marines estimated they killed at least 400 of the enemy on the first day of the attack. They were driving into the pocket in a northwesterly direction. Their goal was a series of ridges dominating the southern part of the bridgehead.

Australian Mustang fighter pilots knocked out three tanks in a "field day" of attacks with guns, rockets and bombs.

Both Sides Willing To Resume Peace Talk

MONTREAL (BUP)—The leaders of 125,000 non-operating railwaymen today rejected a government request that they postpone the nation-wide rail strike set for next Tuesday.

Frank H. Hall, chairman of the joint negotiating committee of 15 international unions, said the government request had been turned down "with the utmost respect" for its views.

However, he said the internationals "were available" for further settlement talks with the railways "if it is thought that such talks would be of any value."

Hall said the union decision had been sent to the presidents of the nation's two big carriers along with assurances that they held a "willingness" to confer with the companies again. Hall said the internationals were awaiting the railways' reply.

A. R. Mosher, president of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees—one of the two Canadian brotherhoods involved

Would Act With Mediators

Mosher also said the Canadian unions would co-operate fully with any government mediation efforts, first proposed by Prime Minister St. Laurent Wednesday night in his request for the postponement.

Hall's wire to the Prime Minister said: "With the utmost respect for the views you expressed on behalf of the government, this negotiating committee must decline to postpone the date set for the withdrawal from service."

"We shall, however, hold ourselves available for further discussions with the railways if it is thought that such discussions would be of any value."

After communicating with the companies, Hall said a second wire was sent to Mr. St. Laurent. It read:

"This committee has communicated with the railways expressing willingness to meet them again and we now are awaiting their word."

Big 3 Ministers Seek Common Formosa Stand

LONDON (AP)—The Big Three Western Foreign Ministers will try to hammer out a common policy next month over what to do about Formosa—possible powder keg of a third world war.

Informants said the Ministers' study will be preceded by a full-scale discussion of the problem by the United States and Britain.

'Quake Damage Totals $2,150,000

GAUHATI, India (Reuter)—Tuesday's earthquake did about $2,150,000 damage in Upper Assam, first official estimates indicated today.

Most of the damage occurred in North Lakhimpur, Jorhat and Pasighat, official sources said. More than 2,000 government and private buildings were destroyed. Five persons were reported killed.

The stalemate revolves around the order of President Truman last June dispatching the U.S. Seventh Fleet to protect the island against a possible Red Chinese attack. At the same time the President called on the Nationalists to stop bombing the Chinese mainland and ships trading with it.

U.K. To Boost Civil Defence Expenditure

LONDON (Reuter)—Britain is to increase expenditure for civil defence by more than half during the coming year, it was announced Wednesday night. A total of £6,714,285 ($20,680,000) will be spent to protect civilians against air attacks in 1950-51, compared with £4,107,142 last year.

DOG, LEGS BOUND, SAVED FROM CRUEL DROWNING

S.P.C.A. officials are seeking information regarding origin of one of the cruellest acts reported in Victoria in some time. A struggling black and tan dog, part Doberman and part Alsatian, was pulled from the harbor Tuesday from under the wharf at Victoria Machinery Depot's Bay Street plant.

One of its forelegs was bound to a hind leg with strong cord. The foreleg was cut to the bone by the cord and the hind leg badly hurt.

The animal was wild and vicious with pain and fright but calmed down later and, according to the S.P.C.A. inspector, was "most docile and friendly."

B. P. Fuller, S.P.C.A. president here, said it appeared that originally all four legs had been tied together, but that the dog had managed to get partially free when struggling in the water.

The dog, said to be seven or eight years old, is being treated by a veterinarian. The S.P.C.A., which is offering a reward on the matter, will seek a friendly home when he recovers.

Strike Violence At Hamilton

Mounting garbage and picket lines are feature of Hamilton's strike of nearly 1,100 civic employees normally engaged on outside work. Photograph shows scene

Hamilton Imports Fog Machines To Spray Mounting Piles Of Garbage

HAMILTON (CP)—Four fog machines tomorrow will spray piles of rotting garbage on Hamilton Streets as a strike of 1,000 civic employees enters its second week.

The machines were brought in from London and Toronto to augment city equipment which has been spraying fly-infected dumps in the Hamilton area. Civic employees picketing the dumps have allowed the sprayers to cross their lines.

Dr. L. A. Clarke, Medical Officer of Health, appealed to citizens to stop leaving garbage on the streets. The council of the adjoining town of Dundas warned of "drastic action" to be taken against Hamilton residents who dump refuse in Dundas.

An official of the striking Local 5 of the Hamilton Civic Employees Union (C.C.L.) said the union was considering a return to work by voluntary grave-diggers to open and close graves in city cemeteries. The grave-diggers are on strike along with Waterworks Department workers.

Five Dead In Ship Fire But Toll May Be Higher

TADOUSSAC, Que. (CP)—The wreckage of the St. Lawrence River cruise ship Quebec which burned here Monday night gave up another body today. This brought death toll to five.

Quebec provincial police said the fourth and fifth victims of the fire were believed to be Dr. and Mrs. Pickens Smith McCollum of Clemson, S.C.

The bodies were recovered near the cabin which the McCollums had occupied.

Early Wednesday night the fourth body, believed to be that of a woman, was recovered by police from the Canada Steamship Lines pleasure vessel.

The fifth was located not far away by a wrecking and salvage crew working over the burned hulk of the 7,000-ton ship from which more than 400 passengers and 150 crew members disembarked amid smoke and flames Monday evening.

2 Face Charge Of Assaulting Taxi Driver

John Dunn, Bluebird cab driver, is recovering in Royal Jubilee Hospital from injuries sustained when he was attacked by two men early this morning at the Lantern Inn, Four Mile Hill.

Scheduled to face charges of assaulting and occasioning Dunn actual bodily harm are Dennis Charles O'Brien and Tim E. Corrick, aged 26 and 24, respectively.

Constable Frederick Clunk of the Mounted Police attended the scene.

Police say the assault on Dunn occurred when one girl in a party called a cab, Dunn attending.

According to officer, Dunn's injuries included those inflicted by a person using an empty pop bottle case as a weapon.

Partial Isolation Faces Island If Strike Comes

No Postponement But Mediation Welcomed

OTTAWA (CP)—Unions engaged in the railway labor dispute today rejected a government appeal for a 30-day deferment of their Aug. 22 general strike.

But they joined the railways in agreeing to an urgent government request for resumption of their negotiations that have been broken off for a week.

The union reaction came today in replies to a letter sent the disputants Wednesday night by Prime Minister St. Laurent asking that negotiations be resumed and that, failing settlement by Aug. 22, the postponement be ordered.

In return, he said the government would appoint a special commissioner to mediate the wage-hour dispute.

Today's reply of the two Canadian unions, representing 34,000 of the 124,000 employees under strike orders, said a mediator would be welcomed—but before the Aug. 22 deadline.

DOOR NOT SHUT

The Canadian Unions' reply did not completely shut off the possibility of an eventual postponement.

While it declared it could offer no "encouragement" on this point, it added that "a great deal" would depend on what progress could be made toward establishing a basis of settlement before the afternoon of Aug. 21.

That indicated this was the latest time at which the union chiefs here and in Montreal could halt the ponderous machinery, in motion for several weeks.

The reply of the 15 international unions, representing 90,000 workers, was a straight turn-down of the 30-day plea, accompanied by an expression of their willingness to start bargaining again.

No mention was made of the proposed mediation in the larger group's telegram to Prime Minister St. Laurent.

Following receipts of the union replies, there were indications in government quarters that an emergency cabinet meeting might be called for this evening to deal with the new developments.

Another major development today was a call from the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, representing 400,000 farmers, for the government to declare a national emergency and take over operation of the railways as a last resort against a strike.

Meanwhile, preparations for the crippling strike went forward. Tonight was to bring its first tangible effects on rail traffic, with an embargo going into effect at midnight on the railways' acceptance of livestock and perishable goods.

The two Canadian Unions are the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees (C.C.L.) and the Brotherhood of Express employees (C.C.L.).

FEAR RUSSIA MAY GRAB N. KOREA BEFORE U.N.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Many of the best-informed American officials now believe Russia will openly grab off North Korea above the 38th parallel—rather than let a victorious United Nations force restore peace and unity to the country.

It is assumed here that the precise steps to be taken have been under negotiation between the Soviet Union and Communist China. It is also assumed they will act jointly when the time comes.

U.S. government officials, however, give little credence to reports which have come mainly from Chinese Nationalist sources that Russian Vice-Premier V. M. Molotov has been in Peking, Red Chinese capital, negotiating with Premier Mao Tse Tung and other officials on this and related problems.

Whether Molotov has or has not been there, the belief of responsible authorities here is that the Soviets and Chinese must be deeply involved in fateful talks at this time, concerning not only Korea but Formosa and other Far Eastern political questions.

30,000 N. KOREANS OPEN TAEGU DRIVE

Reds Pour Through Steep Mountain Passes As U.S. Forces Strike At River Bridgehead

TOKYO (AP)—Thirty thousand North Koreans opened a massive drive on Taegu on the central Korean front Thursday. The Reds poured through steep mountain passes 15 miles north of the South Korean emergency capital. They were east of the Nakdong River.

Only two South Korean divisions stood between them and Taegu. South Koreans controlled the mountain-pass roads.

The Communists poured out of an area west of the river which was heavily bombed by B-29's Wednesday. They jumped off from an area between Waegwan and Kunwi.

Their attack started a few hours after U.S. marines and infantry struck at the 12,000-man Red bridgehead on the east bank of the Nakdong River near Changnyong, 23 miles southwest of Taegu.

The marines had been pulled out of the south coastal area where they had made advances on Chinju. They were ordered back 20-odd miles to the east and then shunted northward for the Changnyong attack.

U.S. infantry took the marines' places in the coastal line just west of Masan, southern port which is 27 airline miles east of Pusan.

It was on the north central front, north of Taegu, that the Reds were making their most dangerous thrust, however.

The sudden thrust was described by U.S. 8th Army headquarters as the "most serious one to the United Nations in Korea."

It came despite a massed bombing attack by 101 B-29's Wednesday which was aimed to slow the Red offensive.

Leif Erickson, Associated Press correspondent at 8th Army headquarters in Korea, said the North Koreans were attacking with between 25,000 and 30,000 troops.

In the path of the invaders are two South Korean divisions. The sudden outburst to the north developed after U.S. marines and infantry began a counter-attack in the Reds' Changnyong River-crossing bulge.

The marine-attack centered on a steep hill near Chang-

An inquest has been ordered by Dr. E. C. Hart, coroner, at 10 Monday morning at McCall Bros. Funeral Chapel into the death of Colin W. L. Chambers. He died as a result of burns in a fire Tuesday night in a Fernwood Road nursing home. His clothing caught fire, presumably from a cigarette.

C.P.R. Ships To Tie Up, American Line Only Link

Victoria and the rest of Vancouver Island will be virtually isolated from the mainland of B.C. except for air traffic if the strike of Canadian railways comes about next Monday.

Capt. O. J. Williams, manager of the C.P.R.'s B.C. Coast Service, said today the company's ships would discontinue operations until the strike is settled.

Such a move would be a severe blow to Vancouver Island's booming tourist industry, now at its peak.

Only passenger ships linking the island with the mainland would be those operated by the Black Ball Ferry Line between Victoria, Port Angeles and Seattle, and between Sidney and Anacortes.

Capt. Williams said the cancellation of service would be necessary because of the number of ship and dockside employees involved in the dispute.

These include stewards, assistant pursers, freight clerks, wireless operators, linesmen and elevator operators, all of whom belong to railroad brotherhoods. Express workers would also be affected.

PARTICULARS

Following are particulars of services which will be canceled or will operate to terminal points: (All times daylight).

Vancouver-Victoria service will terminate on arrival of the ships at each point at 7 on the morning of Aug. 22.

From Vancouver to Nanaimo, last sailing will be on the Princess Patricia or Marguerite at 8.15 in the evening, Aug. 21.

From Nanaimo to Vancouver, the last sailing will be on the Princess Elaine at 9.15 the same evening.

Final departure from Victoria to Seattle will be at 5.30 in the afternoon on Aug. 21.

On the Alaska run, ships due to leave Vancouver before Aug. 21 will make the round trip as scheduled.

Sailings from Vancouver after that date will be canceled. In the west coast Vancouver Island service, the Princess Maquina will leave Victoria as scheduled Aug. 20. On return, she will tie up at Victoria if the dispute is not settled.

On the Gulf Islands run, the Princess Mary will make her last trip Aug. 20 and will leave on her scheduled run from Westview to Comox that night. She will tie up at Vancouver on return on Aug. 22.

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

MAN VS. NATURE

WHILE TRAVELING up the island on Monday en route to the opening of the huge new pulp mill at Harmac, near Nanaimo, I noticed the ominous abodes of tent caterpillars on trees on one of the side roads along which we were journeying—a sight which started me brooding about the problem of such pests as tent caterpillars and earwigs.

And I remarked to a forestry official who was in the car that I could see no possible place for such nasty, wriggling scourges in the general scheme of things, and I wondered why they had been sent to try us.

NATURAL CONTROL

WHEREUPON he, out of the depth of his extensive knowledge and experience of the natural sciences, observed that Nature, in her infinite wisdom, had provided in various ways for the control of what we considered pests. And he cited the case of the parasite which attacks the caterpillar and keeps it down for a time, until something comes along and attacks it, in turn.

Incidentally, he couldn't supply me with any comforting information as to any parasite or anything else which would deal with the ubiquitous earwig that is always with us and which apparently thrives on so-called poison bait.

BEES AND BEARS

BUT HE DID intrigue me with another bit of natural history that I found profoundly interesting, especially as it appertains to this Pacific Northwest. We happened to be passing a heavily-timbered area at the moment and he pointed out several young hemlocks which were dead and brown.

It recalled to his mind a phenomenon he had observed on a visit to Oregon, where he noted a number of dead young spruce on some timber holdings. It seems that down there, as in British Columbia, forest conservation laws require the removal of snags and dead timber after logging operations.

But it is in these old snags that the wild bees build their hives—or nests or whatever it is—and deposit their honey. And the bears knew this and raided the bees' lairs for the honey. So when the conservation laws denuded the land of these natural repositories for honey combs, the bees either died out or moved on elsewhere.

BALANCE DISTURBED

THUS ROBBED of one of their natural foods, the bears, to satisfy their craving for something sweet, sniffed around and discovered that underneath the bark of the young spruce there is a certain sweetish substance. So they started clawing off the bark of some of the finest young timber to get at the toothsome delicacy—with the result that large numbers of these valuable young spruce were killed.

As my forestry friend pointed out, this was one example of what happens when man, in his seeming wisdom, interferes with natural laws and so upsets the balance of Nature. What may appear to be a wise move at the time all too often turns out, in the long run, to exact a penalty that more than offsets any immediate advantage.

SCOTS AND SALMON

IT MAY SEEM a far cry from Oregon bees and bears to Scottish salmon, but something happened there recently which suggested that Nature might be taking a hand to show up the nonsense of man-made activity. It was in the Vale of Leven where, as in other parts of Scotland, there has been an almost morbid pre-occupation with the problem of a depleted salmon-fishing industry.

One sunny afternoon, thousands of salmon and trout literally threw themselves out of the River Leven on to the banks. For three hours it went on—and meanwhile the Vale people made the most of this finny manna from Heaven! But after all the excitement had died down it was discovered that Man, and not the Great Provider, had sent this feast to the fish-hungry Scots. For more pollution than usual had got into the Leven waters, leaving it with so much poison that even the fish couldn't stomach it!

Fancy Dress Parade Opens Langford Community Fair

LANGFORD—Crowned with all the ceremony befitting her position, brown-haired Lorraine Kershaw was declared queen of Langford Community Fair by Mayor Percy George at Langford Speedway, Wednesday evening.

The mayor declared the fifth annual fair open just prior to the crowning ceremony, following which Colwood Trail Riders, directed by Maj. F. E. Wormsely, gave their colorful musical ride.

The all-day event, which began with a children's fancy-dress parade and concluded with a dance, drew hundreds throughout the day.

Little boys and girls came garbed as rabbits, pirates, cowboys and a host of other characters for the parade. Michael Allen took first prize for the most original; Jill Mutter, Joan Hicks and Kristine Goodman, prettiest, and Yvonne Gray, Trudine Williamson and Carol Wachter, national costumes.

The fruit and vegetable displays drew many and there were exhibits of home cooking. Pony rides, a midway, women's nail-driving contest, foot and bicycle races and tug-of-war rounded out the program.

There was a display by Langford Fire Brigade and a precision number by the Chinese girls' drill team. Diana Tippet, contortionist, also appeared on the entertainment program. E. F. Levesque, chairman, announced the events.

Plan Meeting On Sales Tax Aid

COBBLE HILL—A joint meeting with Duncan City Council and municipal council of North Cowichan to discuss the municipal aid tax is planned by representatives of the unorganized areas of School District No. 65.

They contend since the tax goes directly to municipalities, although collected from unorganized areas as well as incorporated portions of the province, that it is taxation without representation.

Death By Accident

DUNCAN—Martin Linden, logger, came to his death accidentally in a truck accident at Kapoor Logging Co. near Cobble Hill, a coroner's jury ruled at the inquest here. Funeral services were held Wednesday from St. John's Anglican Church.

Atlantic Hurricane One Of Biggest On Record

MIAMI, Fla. (UP)—A king-sized hurricane with 140-mile-an-hour winds barreled across the Atlantic today on a westerly course directly toward the "gold coast" of Florida.

The giant windstorm, first of the season but measuring up to some of the biggest tropical storms on record, was 130 miles wide when a navy plane flew out at 6 this morning (E.D.T.) to look it over.

Thirty minutes earlier, the Miami Weather Bureau had pinpointed its position about 600 miles east of Miami. Its forward speed was estimated at eight to nine miles an hour.

The navy "hurricane hunter" plane, whose instruments can size up a big blow from every angle, will fly directly into the dead-calm "eye" of the storm to check its direction, intensity and area.

MORE WARNINGS

After it returns, the federal storm warning service was expected to start issuing more frequent, advance than every six hours, as it has been doing.

Chief Forecaster Grady Norton added that it was "still too far away to determine if it will hit the Florida coast."

Two ships reported they had encountered heavy seas in the outer reaches of the storm but were not in trouble. Pan-American Airways planes between New York and Puerto Rico were rerouted to avoid the danger area but most airlines were flying normal routes between Miami and the West Indies.

Odds Appear Against U.S. Conscription

WASHINGTON (UP)—The odds appeared today to be against Congressional approval of the administration's latest proposal for universal military training at this session.

But despite Congressional coolness, defence officials were optimistic. They believed they would be able to convince a majority of the House and Senate that the Korean war has proved the necessity of such a program.

With President Truman's approval, Defence Secretary Louis Johnson Wednesday night "strongly urged" Congress to enact before adjournment a law providing for from six months to one year of military training for 17-year-olds.

Although he wanted the law on the books now, Johnson proposed the actual start of the training program be delayed until after the end of the Korean war. He said the armed forces couldn't spare the officers and men now to run the program.

Johnson said the effective date should be left up to Mr. Truman. This delay feature might prove the undoing of the legislation for this session. Some Congressmen said that since the training program wouldn't be started for some time anyway, next session would be soon enough to consider it.

Accept Tender On School Site

LADYSMITH—Board of School Trustees, District 67, Tuesday accepted the $2,475 tender of Garner Bros., Duncan, for clearing nine acres of the Junior-Senior High School site here.

It was agreed that transportation contracts will be continued at present rates until June 30, 1951. The meeting granted the building committee power to deal with tenders for building a furnace room at Diamond School.

SOURDOUGHS CELEBRATING

DAWSON CITY (BUP)—Last of the sourdoughs came back to celebrate the 54th anniversary of the day the word "gold" brought the world rushing to the Klondike.

They headed a parade of hundreds of Dawsonites and visitors but somehow, the whoopee was little more than a ghostly whisper of the old days.

Shoe Repair Cost Likely To Go Up

Shoe repair prices here are expected to increase shortly as a result of the rising cost of repair materials, it was learned reliably today. A 20 per cent increase in repair work became effective in Vancouver today.

Saanich Opens New Firehall On Friday

Saanich's third firehall, on Shelbourne Street, will be officially opened at 3 Friday afternoon by Arthur Ash, M.L.A.

The hall, just north of Ruby Road on the east side of Shelbourne, will be put into operation with a skeleton staff.

Fire Chief Joseph Law reports that several mainland fire officials will be present for the opening. Members of Saanich Council and chiefs of other Greater Victoria fire departments also will attend.

Among visiting officials will be Chief Claude Hystead, New Westminster; Chief William Murphy of North Vancouver; R. Waddell, president of the B.C. Fire Chiefs' Association and his chairman, Councillor Douglas Drummond, and Mayor J. C. Wragg, Duncan. Other halls operating in Saanich are on Douglas Street (headquarters unit), and at Elk Lake.

One Dead, 2 Hurt In B.C. Accident

NELSON, B.C. (CP)—A man was killed and two others injured today when an automobile swerved off the road near Crescent valley, rolled 200 feet down a bank and burst into flames.

Killed was John Elder, 50, of Nakusp, B.C. He is believed to be survived by a wife and other relatives in Vancouver.

Jack Jarbeau of Nelson, named by police as the driver, is in hospital here with back injuries and possible internal injuries.

Harold R. Willford of New Denver, who suffered leg cuts and bruises, was released from hospital after treatment.

Concord In 30-Minute Gun Duel With Island's Shore Batteries

HONGKONG (AP)—The British destroyer Concord and Chinese Communist shore batteries fought a 30-minute gun duel today at the approaches to Hongkong.

Dies Of Burns Suffered When Clothes Afire

Burns received when his lighted cigarette set fire to his clothing late Tuesday night were fatal to 75-year-old Colin William Leslie Chalmers.

Completely swathed in bandages when 80 per cent of the surface of his body received burns from the blazing inferno caused by his clothes, he died in the Royal Jubilee Hospital Wednesday afternoon.

Born in London, England, the late Mr. Chalmers had been a resident of the city for 23 years. He had been living at a boarding house, 2517 Fernwood Road. His rescuer, Joe Sirdinski, 31, proprietor of the boarding house, saved the aged man from immediate death Tuesday night when he rushed upstairs in answer to screams from the victim, and wrapped him in blankets, smothering the blaze.

Sirdinski received severe burns to both hands, but was released from hospital Wednesday evening.

Mr. Chalmers is survived by his wife, Neneia; two daughters, Mrs. Marjorie Harrington and Mrs. Elizabeth Coleman of Victoria; three sons, Alan, Colin and William of Victoria; one brother, Eric B. Chalmers; one niece and two nephews.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later by McCall Bros.

It was the second clash between British warships and Red artillerymen in the area. After the Concord battle it was officially reported the navy frigate White-sand Bay exchanged fire Aug. 2 with gun emplacements on Ling-tung Island.

The Concord said it fired in self-defence after Red guns on Taitami, Puntin and Lingting Islands opened up.

Royal Navy officers said there was one minor casualty and no damage to the ship as it steamed into Hongkong.

Red shore batteries have been quick to fire on ships recently. On three successive days last week merchant ships were shelled. These were British, American and Norwegian vessels.

It was estimated the Reds fired three-pounders at the Concord. The destroyer fired its much more powerful 4.7-inch guns. This was the first reported exchange of gunfire between a British warship and the Chinese Communists since April, 1949. At that time, the cruiser London, the destroyer Consort and the frigates Black Swan and Amethyst came under Communist shore fire in the Yangtze River. In all, 43 British sailors were killed and more than 80 wounded in the 1949 engagement.

The Chinese fired first from Taitami. Then Red guns on Puntin and Lingting opened up as the Concord moved along.

These islands are about 12 miles south of Hongkong and six miles west of the spot where the American freighter Steel Rover, the British merchantman Hang-sang and the Norwegian freighter Pleasantville were fired on last week.

Interesting Summer Hobby For Washington Students

Snohomish High School students spending part of summer vacation on marine biological expedition called in at Victoria today to sightsee and visit museum. From here students proceed to up-island ports. At right is leader-teacher Steve Smith.

in the northwest so far as I'm concerned," Mr. Smith declared. "And Dr. Clifford Carl, museum director, I regard as the outstanding biologist in the northwest. He's right on his toes."

Young Biologists Get Practical Training

A 50-foot, battleship-grey sea cadet vessel serves as classroom and vacation pleasure ship for biology students of Snohomish High School in Washington.

The ship, the Sss. Ranger, called in at Victoria today.

On board were nine girls and two boys, all high school biology students, a husky sea cadet life-guard and skipper Steve Smith.

Genial Mr. Smith is biology teacher on the staff of Snohomish High. He got the idea of taking part of his class on a marine biological expedition in 1943. The first trip proved so successful he has made four such trips in the last seven summers.

HAVE GOOD TIME

"It's for students interested in marine biology," Mr. Smith explains. "We cruise up the coast of your island, call in at points of interest, talk to fishermen and other interesting people, collect specimens, take pictures and generally have a good time."

Each cruise takes about two weeks. The ship each time carries a crew of between 12 and 15. "The students receive no special credit for the work but they learn a lot they wouldn't ordinarily get at school and they take more interest in the subject," Mr. Smith finds.

The sea cadet ship is made available to the students as Mr. Smith is a leader in the Snohomish sea cadet movement. He sees to it all those who come on the trips get sea cadet training. The ship is run with proper naval efficiency. Both girls and boys take turns at standing watch, navigating, cooking and scrubbing the decks.

In all his trips, Mr. Smith has only missed calling at Victoria once, and that was when rough weather prevented him from getting into harbor.

Victoria is included as a port of call not only because the students like to come here but because of the Provincial Government Museum here.

Hunt Winnipeg For Dangerous Radium Vial

WINNIPEG (BUP)—A search of Winnipeg streets Wednesday failed to locate a capsule containing radium which may prove harmful if carried by a person for too long a time.

The radium vial was lost somewhere between Winnipeg General Hospital and the Cancer Relief and Research Institute (442 William Avenue). Police say a truck was delivering four radium capsules in a steel box to the research institute Wednesday afternoon. When the truck arrived at the cancer institute, the steel box was found on its side and one of the capsules was missing.

A delicate instrument—known as a scintillometer—which is used to detect radioactive substances such as radium—was carried along route taken by the truck. But no trace was found of the one-and-one-half-inch-long dirty-white plastic vial. Doctors say a person who may have picked up the capsule would not be hurt right away. But effects of the radium will be harmful after a few hours.

Big 3 Ministers Seek Common Formosa Stand

LONDON (AP)—The Big Three Western Foreign Ministers will try to hammer out a common policy next month over what to do about Formosa—possible powder keg of a third world war.

Informants said the Ministers' study will be preceded by a full-scale discussion of the problem by the United States and Britain.

The two countries have been at loggerheads over the status of the island, 110 miles off Communist China's mainland but still occupied by Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government.

The American, British and French Foreign Ministers are meeting in New York Sept. 9. Their parley will be followed by a session of the 12-country Atlantic Pact council. The Atlantic allies are bound by their treaty to consult each other on crucial foreign policy issues.

Weeks of discussion between American and British officials both here and in Washington, so far have failed to produce a mutually acceptable policy on Formosa.

The stalemate revolves around the order of President Truman last June dispatching the U.S. Seventh Fleet to protect the island against a possible Red Chinese attack. At the same time the President called on the Nationalists to stop bombing the Chinese mainland and ships trading with it.

3 Poles Quit Embassy In Washington

WASHINGTON (UP)—Three high ranking officials of the Polish Embassy have resigned in defiance of the present Polish government; it was learned today.

State Department officials confirmed that requests for asylum from Communist rule had been received from Minister Janusz Zoltowski, Embassy Counselor Stefan Rogozinski and Wladyslaw Nizinski, Embassy Second Secretary. Zoltowski was Poland's top financial representative in this country.

The trio of defections rattled the high command of the Polish Embassy. They quit at various stages in recent weeks.

Speaking for himself and Nizinski, Rogozinski told the United Press the three men decided to quit their jobs when they were ordered to return to Poland. It was understood that Zoltowski is residing in New York.

Radio Inquiry Ends

LONDON (CP)—A fact-finding commission, headed by Lord Beveridge, has completed its inquiry into the future of broadcasting in Britain. More than 200 witnesses were heard during the 10 months of evidence-taking, all selected spokesmen of nearly 2,000 that applied to appear before the commission.

U.K. To Boost Civil Defence Expenditure

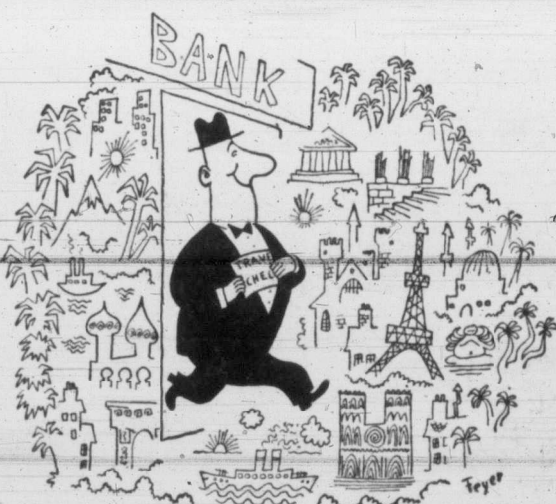

LONDON (Reuter)—Britain is to increase expenditure for civil defence by more than half during the coming year, it was announced Wednesday night. A total of £6,714,285 ($20,680,000) will be spent to protect civilians against air attacks in 1950-51, compared with £4,107,142 last year.

Who Supplies The Money?

WHO IS FINANCING THE CANADIAN Peace Congress? This is a question most Canadians would like answered. Reaching this office almost every day is a batch of mimeographed and other forms of "literature" from the head offices of the C.P.C. at 49 Walker Avenue, Toronto, Ont. All this costs money—money for labor, supplies and postage. For it can be taken for granted that every newspaper from the Pacific to the Atlantic is being inundated with teasing variations of the "Stockholm Appeal."

What intrigues us most, however, is the collection of names attached to the appeal for the outlawry of the atomic bomb as an instrument of war—the clock under which the dagger of Russian Communism is so clumsily hidden. Here are a few:

Rev. Wm. R. Clements of Minesing, Ont., who says: "Speaking as a Christian, I regard all war as sin." Well, nobody favors sin. Says Rev. Dr. T. Jackson Wray, retired Vancouver, B.C., pastor: "Canada, that should be leading the world for justice, righteousness and loving kindness, tagging along behind the hysterical warmaking free enterprisers!" Tim Buck should note that one. Signers in Winnipeg include Wasyly Swystun and Joseph Zuken—no attempt here to play on names. Only one line in the latest bulletin from Walker Avenue is devoted to the activities of the Canadian Peace Congress in Windsor, Ont. It reads:

This Must Be Stopped Now

THE NEWS COLUMNS HAVE REPORTED still another instance of violence in a small Quebec community, this time involving a Baptist pastor at La Sarre. The gentleman in question is reported to have been knocked down and injured, and one of his followers was beaten while being driven away in a car. The pastor complained to the chief of police, who was present at the scene, and who reportedly said that he could do nothing because the attacks occurred on private property.

Such an occurrence—and there has been a number of them in recent months involving attacks on minority religious groups in the province of Quebec—should call forth the protests of Canadians of every faith. This is a nation whose racial and religious composition is such that tolerance has become a necessary feature of our life. It matters relatively little that a crowd of ignorant roughnecks in some backward community has knocked down a man. It is deplorable but not significant. But it matters very much to every one of us that a man in Canada has been struck and silenced because he upholds a different version of religious belief from those who have resorted to mob action. It is unlikely that the participants in such a disgraceful episode can have very strong convictions in regard to any of the known Christian faiths. But we must not let it become a common practice that anybody in Canada can be publicly intimidated when presenting opinions in a democratic manner.

"Windsor Peace Council helps its petitioners with a snappy bulletin called Peace Pieces." This, of course, really means freedom in small bits and totalitarianism in large slices.

Ah, but wait for other signatures, gentle reader. Here are just a few from another bulletin issued at the Toronto Walker Avenue address. Note these names: Mao Tse-tung, Premier of the Republic of (Communist) China; Paul Robeson, styled "singer, U.S.A."; Shostakovich, down as "composer, U.S.S.R." (Not a word, of course, about the number of times the Politburo has taken this musician over its figurative knee and spanked him for not composing in the correct totalitarian spirit.) Maurice Chevalier, who has charmed many audiences the world over in person or by the "canned" product of his artistry, is also on the list of signers. Do we seem to recall that he was suspected as a collaborator during the Nazi occupation of his native France? We will wind up this partial list of signers of the "Stockholm Appeal" by adding the name of Dr. Hewlett Johnson, the Dean of Canterbury, who needs no introduction to this theme.

We have made several allusions in recent weeks to this Canadian Peace Congress. It is a phony of the most sinister kind. It is the agent of the Soviet Union wrapped up in tissue paper and tied with pink ribbon. But it is dynamite. Watch it!

If local authority is unable to cope with such a threat, then let the province concerned act. If such action is not forthcoming, let it become a federal matter, and without delay. There will be small point in dying in Korea to uphold a freedom which through public lassitude is endangered at home. We have not seen the recruiting figures for La Sarre, but it would appear that there are some brawny arms there becoming restless for lack of more worthy employment.

A Promise Of More To Come

YESTERDAY'S ANNOUNCEMENT from Ottawa that H.M.C.S. Cayuga has seen action off the coast of Korea and that the Athabaskan and the Sioux have been engaged in convoy and blockade work will have answered the questions of Canadians who have heard little or nothing of the three ships since their departure from Esquimalt early in July. A previous U.S. Navy report on July 31 had mentioned Canadian participation in a United Nations action against shore targets, but few details were revealed.

Hard-pressed American and native land forces will no doubt be aided by the damage inflicted on the Communist-held port by Canadian guns. But equally important will be the lift in morale resulting from the knowledge that other members of the United Nations are taking part in what must be essentially a joint effort. Admittedly United States forces have gallantly borne the heavy brunt of the fighting so far, and will for some time to come. But the aid of other nations is on the way. Turkey, Thailand, Britain, Australia, New Zealand and Canada are readying men for U.N. service. Such contributions, if they can be delivered in time will do much to help swing the campaign from the defensive to the offensive.

Canadian shells from Canadian warships may be only a token at the moment, but they are a valuable one and a necessary one. International history is being made in Korean territory and coastal waters. The current conflict may usher in a new era of global security—not in the blissful optimism of "the war to end war," but in the grim realization that if the peace-loving countries of the world demonstrate they can unite to halt aggression a new and realistic factor will have been added to the global equation.

Another trouble about socialism is that if it would work, no one else would.

A man seldom gets off key when singing his own praises.

Famous last words, "I only shot to scare the boys."

Revised: Where there is life there is strife.

Not Mentioned In Communiques But Still In There Fighting

By PETER EDSON, from Washington

IN the natural American interest about the battles of the U.S. First Cavalry, 25th, Second and First Divisions, the role of the Republic of Korea's army has been generally lost sight of. It is a glorious record. It will go down in history as one of the great attempts by a native people to resist aggression and put down civil war.

MAIN OUTLINES

Not too many details of their gallant stand have been reported to the Pentagon. Republic of Korea—ROK forces, they're called—get only a line or two in the daily communiques, and little or no mention in the daily briefings. But enough facts can be dug out to give the main outlines of the story.

They numbered originally 96,000 men. How many of them are alive today, no one can say with any degree of accuracy. The original North Korean attacking force was approximately of the same size—90,000 to 100,000 men. But the North Koreans were vastly superior in arms. They had artillery; they had 300 Soviet-made tanks and 100 to 150 Soviet-made planes.

The South Koreans had no armor—no artillery, no tanks and only 16 trainer planes for an air force. They had been deployed in depth along the 38th parallel. They had had some experience in fighting and rounding up guerrilla raids that were made across the line from time to time, particularly on Sunday mornings. But the South Koreans were totally unprepared for the all-out attack of June 25.

TERRIBLE BEATING

In that original attack, the South Koreans took a terrible beating. They were armed only with rifles, machine guns and mortars. They had a little artillery in 75's and 105's, but lost much of it. Five divisions met the initial North Korean attack. The other three divisions were farther south. Some units met such heavy attack that they were virtually destroyed, or their troops so scattered that they ceased to exist as military organizations. Some men may have escaped to coastal islands, been captured, or faded into the hills. That is why estimates of casualties are next to impossible.

Chips Off The Old Brock

By DAVID BROCK

WHEN the world was waiting for news of the birth of the Royal Baby, the Canadian Press was hard-pressed (if we may so express ourselves) to find newsy little bits about a total lack of news. One enterprising reporter said on August 11 that from outside Clarence House you couldn't tell that anything was going on inside, which was news indeed. (You could say the same thing about the outside of a prison with a hanging going on inside, or the outside of a sheep with worms in his kidneys.)

This reporter then went on to observe that shortly before noon there was some kind of pep-meeting put on by "the five-and-drum-corps of the Royal Guard detachment," whatever that is. They "went into action," he said. Finally, he said, the "five-and-drum corps desisted," as if they had been sent to plague the Princess, and one paper printed all this under the heading DRUMS ROLL, which adds weight to the theory.

ACTUALLY, what happened was probably that one of the Guards regiments was either leaving or entering Wellington Barracks, across St. James's Park. And there is no such unit as the Royal Guard. The infantry regiments of Guards are the Coldstream Guards (now celebrating their 300th anniversary), the Grenadier Guards, the Scots, Irish and Welsh Guards. These are referred to as the Brigade of Guards. There are also the Household Cavalry, comprising the Life Guards, the Royal Horse Guards, and (am I right—will anyone help me here?) the Dragoon Guards.

Well, all this may really have happened. There may be a new unit called the Royal Guard, formed secretly to assist at royal births, and it may actually have serenaded the Princess. But one doubts it. It not only doesn't sound very British, it doesn't sound even Ruritanian.

NEIGHBORLINESS

IT seems very comical that the characters in the comic strips are not free to climb up or climb down a few lines and visit each other. They have to stay horizontally on the beam. What fun it would be (if you can imagine fun in the funny-papers) if Terry of the Pirates could parachute down to see Orphan Annie now and then. He would probably make love to her, of course, he being almost universally susceptible, but that wouldn't matter. . . . Annie is older than you think. . . . she's about 40 now if she's a day, though her garments and stature mislead you. Annie can look after herself, except in the matter of acting and dressing in a manner befitting her age, both unessential things, as that little philosopher well knows.

PROGRESS AMONG THE PAPOOSES

THE other day I saw some little girls playing Indian. They had some very good seagull feathers and even a few eagle feathers to stick in their hair, and one of them stuck two of them horizontally, one coming out over each ear, and she asked what she'd call herself, and a playmate said promptly, "Little Chief Helicopter."

THE EXPERTS

THE male population of New Westminster is said to be angry about the idea of women judges judging a female beauty contest. "What," ask the men, "do women know about such things?" Well, what does a cook know about cookery, or a painter know about painting? If you can refer to a lovely woman as "quite a dish," as some low fellows do refer to her, then she is presumably able to dish things up and is conscious of the art of pleasing. And what a horrible thing it would be if women were not conscious of pleasing, and didn't care a hoot about it.

If there is anything mysterious about femininity (as women like to think), then only another woman is fit to judge it. And if there is nothing really very mysterious after all, and it is all straightforward stuff, then what's to prevent a woman seeing it as well as a man? Unless she is blind, she can see it as well as any man, or better, and the more jealous she is, the better she can see it.

TO MY MISTRESS'S EYES

NO moon appears in the heaven; The night is as black as ink; It's a good deal past eleven Or later than that, I think. Beneath this shattering bough It couldn't be much more shady. It's well after midnight now; You can take off your sun-glasses, Lady.

In Memoriam: Canon Fred Comley

By ROBERT CONNELL

THE sudden passing of Canon Fred Comley on Monday last must have come as a great shock to many people on Vancouver Island and our Pacific coast. For over 40 years he had been a familiar and beloved figure in many fields of activity. These fields were neither confined to his own church nor to the religious life in its more usually limited sense.

When he came out from England he began his work at the Indian village of Alert Bay where his name is still held in affectionate remembrance. After training at Latimer Hall, afterwards incorporated in the Anglican Theological College of B.C., he was ordained and began his parochial work at Quathiaski Cove and the neighboring communities with his little boat the "Rendezvous" as his means of transportation.

From there he went to various parishes on Vancouver Island and then back to Alert Bay as priest-in-charge of both Indian and white work. His last two parishes were Colquitz and Strawberry Vale combined, and then St. Alban's, Victoria.

After his relinquishment of parochial responsibility some years ago he by no means gave up work. His latter years were very fully taken up with the relief of vacant parishes or substitution for invalid clergy. In his last year he made regularly and repeatedly the long journey to Comox and Cumberland as well as to intermediate points. But such a bare recital carries little suggestion of the laboriousness of his journeys and still less of the adventures and escapes that sometimes marked them, particularly in the winter.

Canon Fred Comley was a brotherly man in every sense of the term. Behind his kindness lay a great love of his fellows. It found one form of expression in his love of games. He was well known for years as a wicket-keeper and no mean bat. In later years he took up golf with enthusiasm. He loved to mix with his fellow-men. This it was that gave him his interest in various forms of social work, an interest that on occasion showed itself in very practical ways.

Thus during the epidemic of influenza towards the close of the First World War he was in charge of Cumberland, and the services rendered by his devoted wife and him have never been forgotten in the little mining town.

The scale was large and the work critical, but it was typical of their lives of kindly service, and her passing in 1942 marked the close of 30 years of such service in the several parishes of his ministry.

HUMAN TOUCH

As was to be expected, being the manner of man he was, his preaching was not only simple and direct but with a touch of originality. He was quite without "pulpit manner" and his illustrations were drawn from ordinary every-day life and work. The human touch was more evident than the theological.

In his sermons as in his ordinary intercourse he was pre-eminently a hearty man in the true sense of the term. He radiated brotherliness and cheerfulness. We shall not soon look upon his like again.

Meeting Them At Home

By EWAN BUTLER, in London Calling

I REMEMBER an evening of November, 1940, in London. It was one of those dirty nights of the blitz, with a good deal of "stuff" coming down, and a good deal of noise. I was having supper before going home to the two rooms which I inhabited while I was doing an attachment at the War Office, and up at the far end of the bar was a young Frenchman, in the uniform of a second lieutenant of aviation.

UTTERLY LONELY

He looked utterly lonely and quite miserable, so I invited him, in French, to have a drink. He cheered up a bit, at that, and told me that this was the first time that an Englishman had accosted him in his own language since his arrival here at Dunkirk.

We had the drink, and since things seemed to be getting noisier and noisier, I asked him if he would come around to my lodgings and sit in front of the fire until there was a lull. He accepted, and when we were installed in front of the gas-fire he lost his shyness and began to talk.

"Do you know," the Frenchman said, "that I have always hated your country. I'm a schoolmaster by profession, and I'm afraid I've told my boys some pretty vicious things about Great Britain in the past. This is the first time I've ever been here, though.

"When they said we had to come over here to continue the fight, I was furious. Of course, we had to fight on, but the idea of coming to England to do it disgusted me." My Frenchman paused dramatically. "Do you know what made me change my mind about your country?" he asked. I shook my head.

"We landed," said my friend, "at a little port called Lyme Regis. We were very lonely and very sad. Then, on the Sunday after our arrival, some people who had a nice house in the neighborhood asked some of my comrades and myself to tea. And what do you think I saw when I entered their drawing room?"

FAIR PLAY

"On either side of the fireplace there was an old print, one of Lord Nelson and the other of Napoleon. There, I said to myself, is English 'fair play'. There must be more to these people than I thought. I will investigate them and their country. Since then," he concluded, simply, "I have come to like you very much, and I do a great deal of pro-British propaganda among my comrades."

RED SAILS

Edmonton Journal
One of the curiosities of the Chinese civil war is the extraordinary comeback of the wooden sailing ship. For almost a century, sailing vessels of all sorts have been considered entirely obsolete in naval warfare—almost in the same class with the bow and arrow on land. But the "navy" of the Chinese Communists consists almost entirely of a great fleet of wooden junks, some with auxiliary engines and some dependent entirely on sails.

START PRACTICING

Ottawa Journal
A Montreal waiter won $100 by carrying for a mile, and without spilling their contents, a tray of glasses filled with water. It was a contest, and his time was 14 minutes. There will be another race next year, and anybody who wants to enter can start practicing.

NO HITS, NO RUNS, NO ERRORS

Financial Post
A retiring bank manager once boasted that in his whole business life he was not responsible for more than $125 in bad loans. He was probably trained in the same school as the credit manager of a large oil company whose record was a fraction of 1 per cent in credit losses. If all banks and credit managers acted on the principle of the tight-fisted individuals mentioned above, then there could be no new business started, no new development and no change whatever in existing business.

Risk and mistakes are part of modern business. One never knows exactly how a new system or process or product will turn out until it has been tried. Operating a business without risks or mistakes is like trying to run a farm without cropping it or win at bridge without bidding.

HOARDING UNNECESSARY

Winnipeg Free Press
War always carries with it the threat of shortages and it is characteristic of the people of this continent that concern should centre initially on the rubber industry. With a record number of automobiles now rolling along the highways, fears have already been expressed that tires will be in short supply and in some centres abnormal local demands have already appeared as people hedge against an uncertain future.

According to representative spokesmen of the rubber industry there are no grounds to justify immediate concern. Deploring "fear buying," Mr. William O'Neill, President of General Tire and Rubber Company, states that, "thanks to American research and industrial know-how, our supply of rubber—tires vastly superior to pre-war—is tremendous. All rubber manufacturers have plenty of tires to sell."

HOBBOING SLUMPS

Windsor Star
His Majesty Jeff Davis, personable King of the Hoboes, finds he's running low on subjects. Hoboing, he observed on a visit to Windsor the other day, is becoming a lost calling. Most of the old-time members of the fraternity have taken jobs and settled down.

Their once nomadic existence appears to be a casualty of World War II. Hoboes in large numbers went into the services, or took war jobs. Since then the road hasn't had the same old appeal to them.

This, of course, isn't an out and out violation of the hobo tradition. As Mr. Davis says, "A hobo will work; a tramp won't; a bum can't." A hobo, therefore, is a chap with a loose foot and an ear that's responsive to the call of far-off places.

Vocational directors never will advise hobboing as a career, or even as a temporary diversion; but if it dies this may mean that something adventurous and colorful has been removed from every-day life.

Ups And Downs

By BRIAN A. TOBIN

"THAT was a tough spot," said the Elevator Man, "the Ontario got caught in at Seattle. With no band aboard and no recording of God Save The King for the loudspeaker system they were hard up for suitable music when they came to fire a salute for Elizabeth's new daughter."

Seattle seemed to be fresh out of records of the British National Anthem, too. So the Public Library, there came to the rescue with a platter of "My Country 'Tis of Thee," which is the same tune. It's mighty neighborly when two nations can work together that way. And it was specially appropriate when you recollect that the tune of "The Star-Spangled Banner" was taken from an old English drinking song. Looks like we got harmony in more ways than one. Going up!

"It isn't likely," said the Elevator Man, "that you'd find two European countries able to help each other out in the anthem line. 'Deutschland Uber Alles' is sometimes heard as an English hymn tune, but as a rule national anthems are strictly home products—and treated that way. International trade agreements don't cover that kind of thing. Lowering tariff walls doesn't necessarily mean more friendly understanding will cross the border. Going down!

"A lot of words," said the Elevator Man, "have been written about the 49th parallel, which in the modern version is '3,000 miles without a Superfort.' It's less of a dividing line keeping the two countries apart than it is a hemstitch joining them together. Only a few years ago there wasn't any border at all, but a lot of other things were missing too. When the Indians were running this continent there weren't any taxes or debts, and the women did all the work. And the white men came along and thought they could improve on a system like that."

Tobin

Like What They Have Seen

"We've only been here for a few hours, but we like what we've seen," was comment from these Clarkston, Wash., tourists. Left to right: Jack Parsley, Jerry Boggan, friend of Jack's, and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Parsley. They are finding cooler weather here. The group came to Victoria "because we heard so much about it."

THE HOME GARDEN

Authorities Disagree On When To Seed Lawn

By JACK G. BEASTALL

On my desk are five articles on making a new lawn, written by five authorities on the subject.

Two advocate sowing in the spring, two favor the fall, and the other one tries to prove that late June is the only logical time.

Since the authorities can't agree, the home gardener will have to figure it out for himself and see which season offers the most advantages. Late August and September being a recognized sowing period, let's see what there is in its favor.

To secure a good lawn, steady moisture is needed during the germinating period of the seed, and, until the plants become established, weed growth must be kept to a minimum. A strong, deep root system is essential if the grass is to remain green during the hot summer.

FALL ADVANTAGES

Fall sown grass will have the advantage of fall rains and mild weather. While grass grows best at 50 degrees temperature, growth will take place at 45 degrees, a temperature at which some weeds will grow but few weed seeds will germinate.

As the weather becomes cooler there is less growth above ground but the roots continue to spread, paving the way for a good thick turf the following spring which will be able to hold its own against weeds.

Drying out of the soil will stop germination of the grass seed, which takes about 14 days, and will be fatal to young plants. It is much easier to maintain moisture in the fall than in the spring.

For over a hundred years the experts have advised fall sowing, yet more grass seed is sold in spring, and in the late spring at that, than at any other time of year. Possibly this accounts for the difficulties encountered by so many home gardeners in getting a new lawn established, and it may be the reason why so few really good, velvety lawns are seen in small gardens.

B.C.'S POLIO THREAT FADES

VANCOUVER (CP)—Previous outbreaks of poliomyelitis may have caused a condition of immunity among British Columbians, resulting in fewer cases this year, Dr. Stewart Murray, Vancouver Medical Health Officer, said Wednesday.

He said there were only 28 cases of polio so far this year in the area around Vancouver—an area containing 700,000 people.

'Have You Heard The Latest?'

It's a story of gloom, no doubt, this sad-eyed springer spaniel has in mind, in today's Times-dog-photo-contest entry. The dog, "Billy," is the pal of young Doug Dryden, whose dad, C. Dryden, 2175 Guernsey Street, took the picture.

Well-Known British Lawyer, Lord Hailsham Dead At 78

HURSTMONCEAUX, Eng. (CP)—Lord Hailsham, 78, outstanding British lawyer who was twice attorney-general and twice Lord Chancellor, died at his home here Wednesday after a short illness.

Lord Hailsham was a British delegate to the Ottawa imperial conference in 1932. During this visit to Canada he was created a chief of the Sarcee Indians who gave him the name of "Rising Sun."

His death raises his son, Conservative member Quintin Hogg of Oxford, to the title and makes necessary a by-election.

Rockingham To Establish His Brigade At Petawawa

Final Training May Be Given Outside Canada; Leaves By Plane Friday For Brief Visit West

OTTAWA (CP)—Brig. John Rockingham said Wednesday he will shortly establish his Headquarters at Camp Petawawa, Ont., to supervise the job of whipping Canada's special force into shape to fight in Korea or elsewhere.

He said the brigade group will in time be concentrated for final formation training, the last of four phases of training before action. But that concentration point wouldn't be Petawawa, 130 miles from Ottawa, and there was a chance it might be outside Canada.

The four stages of training, the brigadier told a reporter, were basic, advanced, unit and formation. It was impossible, until he had seen the men recruited, to tell how long each would take. In a month, he might be able to make an estimate.

While Brig. Rockingham worked from the single room he has for a temporary office at Defence Headquarters here, enlistments for the force soared to the point where it appeared he would have the required 5,000 men for the brigade itself within a day or two.

At 5 p.m. Wednesday the 13 recruiting stations across Canada reported they had enlisted a total of 3,792 men and that another 885 were in the process of enlistment. That made a total of roughly 4,600, and enlistments moved from a daily average of 500 up to 765 Wednesday.

Brig. Rockingham plans to leave here by plane Friday and be away a week, cleaning up personal matters and visiting two of his units. On his return he will move his brigade staff to Petawawa and proceed to direct training from there, visiting the various units in turn.

He is due at Calgary early Saturday morning and will spend the day with his 2nd Battalion of the Princess Patricia's. He is due at Vancouver Sunday morning and leaves there three days later.

He will visit his artillery regiment at Shilo, Man., Aug. 24.

Government, Industry Representatives To Study Scandanavian Forest Methods

A party of 14 government and B.C. businessmen today are en route to Norway and Sweden where they will study conditions in the forest industries of the Scandinavian countries and see the sustained yield forestry program in successful operation.

The party is headed by Lands and Forests Minister E. T. Kenney. Other government officials include his deputy, C. D. Orchard, and F. S. McKinnon, forester in charge of research. Industrialists making the trip are Maj. L. R. Andrews, executive vice-president and manager of the B.C. Lumber Manufacturers' Association; John N. Burke, secretary, B.C. Loggers' Association; A. MacBean, forester, H. R. MacMillan Co.; R. R. Douglas, forester, Alaska Fine Co.

C. D. Schultz, consulting forester; Hugh J. Hodgins, consulting forester; John Liersch, forester, Powell River Paper Co.; E. E. Gregg, vice-president, Western Plywoods Ltd.; C. Smith, Truck Loggers' Association; S. M. Simpson, president, S. M. Simpson Ltd., Kelowna.

Some of the delegates from industry will be accompanied by their wives.

The party will arrive at Prestwick, Scotland, Saturday, and will leave there for Oslo. The trip will take from four to six weeks.

10,000,000 In China Suffer In Big Flood

HONGKONG (AP)—Nearly 10,000,000 people in east central China are suffering from the country's worst flood in a century.

The crop loss, so vital to China's agricultural economy, is reported incalculable.

Thousands of houses have been washed away, leaving more than 1,000,000 persons homeless.

The flood was caused by heavy rains in June and July that overflowed the Hwai River and an ancient man-made canal.

A survey of the damage was made by Communist officials. Their report said the situation had reached "calamity proportions."

As of the last week in July, 489 persons have been reported drowned as a result of the flood. At one place the flood was described as "a vast ocean of water stretching beyond the horizon."

GERMAN REDS HATE—

Toscanini, Paderewski, Gide Stravinski, Sartre, Rilke

BERLIN (Reuter) — Arturo Toscanini, 83-year-old Italian-born conductor of the NBC Symphony Orchestra, is among seven men whose work has been banned from the Soviet zone of Germany, the West Berlin Volksblatt reported today.

He is accused of being "rootless, with western tendencies."

The newspaper said the other six, banned by the East Berlin executive of the Socialist Unity (Communist) Party, were:

Andre Gide, French novelist, essayist and dramatist, "an enemy of the Soviet Union."

Ignace Paderewski, former Polish president and concert pianist, "a Polish reactionary Chauvinist and enemy of the Soviet Union."

Igor Stravinsky, Russian-born

composer now "an implacable enemy of the Soviet Union."

Rainer Maria Rilke, foremost German poet, "sterile and unpopular."

Stefan George, German poet, "a decadent dreamer and champion of Germanistic infallibility myth."

Jean Paul Sartre, French writer and philosopher.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER

When I walked into the Oak Bay clubhouse the other day for the start of the 28th Seniors' Northwest Golf Association tournament I was struck immediately by the proportions of a massive trophy which adorned the centre table. The inscription below said: "The Joshua Green age handicap trophy." Now Joshua Green is to my way of thinking the Seniors' Northwest Golf Association although he declines any such honor in a manner befitting his 80 years. Joshua Green is one of the oldest members competing in this annual event which gives truth to the statement: "Life begins at 40," or in this case 55. Dwight Merrill is the oldest at 81.

Seniors' Member Since 1923

To join the Seniors' one must have reached his 55th birthday and Joshua Green, although he beat the gun slightly back in 1923 when the association was formed, is the only man playing in this year's event who has competed every year since that time. Though primarily known for his contribution to the Seniors' in the numerous trophies which bear his name, Joshua Green has also earned his spurs on the course itself.

In 1934 he won the grand championship. He followed this up by taking the "B" (65-69) class title in 1939; the "A" (70-74) class crown in 1940 and 1941. Stepping up in company in the "AA" (75 and over) class Joshua Green captured the honors in 1946, '47 and '48. And he's in the thick of things again this year.

War Taxes Were Heavy In England

I was probably around when high collars went out—somewhere about the time of the bustle, I suppose—but not for Joshua Green. He is, and I seriously doubt that his statement will be questioned, the only golfer still taking part in competitive golf who wears a stiff high collar both off the course and on.

But to get back to this trophy for a moment, Mr. Green picked it up last year from an English nobleman who preferred to remain anonymous. The reason Mr. Green picked it up was undoubtedly to present it to the Seniors' though the nobleman was probably in need of funds to pay his heavily war-taxed lands. The history of the "mug" goes back, so the story goes, to 1849, it in all probability being first awarded as an agricultural prize.

Mythology Enters Into Golf

Engraved on one side of the trophy is the goddess Aphrodite, who among other things, according to Greek mythology, was the goddess of the seas. On the other side is Pan (the goat man) or god of the hills and greens. According to the legend, Aphrodite was a bit of a "beauty" in her time and could hardly be classed as the shy and retiring type of "mother's girl" we know of today. Pan could not hold a candle to the escapades of Aphrodite, he being one of the esser deities of that era.

According to legend these two never got together—at least I can find no proof of it—but apparently back in the deep, dark past things went on which even the historians know nothing about. How else could these two now be adorning the same trophy?

At any rate, it matters little what secrets Pan and Aphrodite hold. The Seniors' golf is again grateful to Joshua Green for bringing this hitherto hidden revelation in the form of a beautiful trophy—won this year by another grand old man of the association, Paul Glaser (age 71)—to light.

Oldsters In Golf Finals Tomorrow

Arthur Musgrave's 4 and 3 victory over former champion Gerry McManama of Seattle and Roy Campbell's showing against defending titleholder Ralph Whaley highlighted Wednesday's play in the grand championship of the 28th annual Seniors' Northwest Golf Association tournament at the Victoria Golf Club.

Musgrave took advantage of a bad round by McManama to score his triumph but nevertheless was full value for the win. After taking a three-hole lead at the sixth the pair matched performances until the 11th where McManama conceded the Victoria Club player a par four and a four-hole margin. Musgrave faltered momentarily after having McManama dormie at the 14th but earned a half with a bogey five to end the match on the 15th green.

Campbell was slightly less than sensational around the greens in the early part of his match against Whaley. He chipped in on the fifth to square the match; dropped a 10-footer on the seventh for another half and rammed a 30-foot putt into the cup on the eighth for a deuce when Whaley was only six inches from the pin.

TWO-HOLE LEAD
He took a two-hole lead by winning the ninth and 10th with pars. Whaley got his first hole back on the 12th with a par five and squared matters at the 15th with a par four to Campbell's five. The deciding shot for Whaley came on the 16th when he put his approach shot two feet from the pin for a birdie three. They halved the 17th and 18th though Whaley was in two traps on the par five 453-yard hole. Campbell missed a 10-foot putt for a birdie that would have squared the match.

An international final is in the making for Friday if Musgrave can continue his giant killing role against Whaley today. Ed Eisenhower of Tacoma and Roy Wood of Portland are meeting in the other semifinal bracket. Eisenhower pulled a major surprise by scoring a one-sided 7 and 6 victory over former U.S. Walker Cup player Dr. O. Willing of Portland. Wood eliminated the lone Vancouverite in the quarter-finals, K. C. Allen, 2 and 1.

Pennant In Whirlpool

Sluggish Ted Williams watches as Vince Orlando supervises pitcher Joe Dobson's whirlpool bath treatment in the Red Sox dressing-room at Boston's Fenway Park. Williams is recovering from an operation that corrected a fractured left elbow. Dobson was bruised when struck on the side by Larry Doby's line drive in Cleveland. Meanwhile, pitcher Ellis Kinder was taking baths to ease the pain of a rib injury.

Tiremen Romp To Win Over Cabmen

Douglas Tire found last night that local opposition isn't as tough as the mainland variety as they whipped Bluebird Cabs, 20 to 6, to cinch the Senior A Men's League softball championship.

The Tiremen last week-end were beaten two straight in the provincial zone semifinals by Vancouver Firemen who last night earned the honor of representing the province in the western Canada playdowns by defeating Trail.

Bluebirds' loss almost eliminated the cabbies from further playoff consideration as they trail Forest Products by one game, each club having three games remaining.

Bob Lyons, Al Majorki and Ben Ethier worked on the hill for the losers in vain. Tiremen teed off on the trio for 14 hits including a grand slam home run by Vic Dale in the sixth inning. Trailing 2 to 1 Tiremen sewed the contest up early with six runs in the second. Singletons in the third and fifth and eight-run outburst in the sixth just added to the woes of the cabbies.

Joe Bryant was nicked for five hits in chalking up the win the most damaging blow being a bases-loaded triple by Bob Embleton in the seventh.

Tomorrow night B.C. Forest

Products will meet Chinese Students at Central Park at 6:30. Short score follows:

Bluebird Cabs..... R H E
..... 6 5 6
Douglas Tire..... 20 14 3
Lyons, Majorki (2), Ethier (6) and Robertson, Collins (2); Bryant and Milliken.

PRYKE, CLARK SEEK BUTTONS

Bob Fleming and Vic Lowe, who last week-end captured the city golf buttons from Don Gowan and Frank Scroggs of Uplands, will make their first defence of the honor this Sunday at Gorge Vale.

Challenging for the laurels will be professional Joe Pryke of the Gorge Vale Club and veteran Jack Clark.

Athletics Return Home After Twin Bill Sweep

Manager Marty Krug must have read the riot act to the Athletics at Vancouver last night for the club came up with one of its best nights of the season in nipping the Capilanos twice, 3 to 2 and 3 to 1.

The double win gave the A's a series lead of two to one over the Caps, the teams resuming their week-long hostilities at Athletic Park tonight.

Ron Smith hurled the first game triumph over nine innings of what was billed as a seven-inning game, doling out nine scattered hits. Jim Hedgecock beat his former mates and league leading pitcher Sandy Robertson, 2 to 1, in the abbreviated six-inning afterpiece which should have gone the regulation nine.

Lou Novikoff batted in the winning run in the ninth frame of the first game after the Caps had knotted the score at 2 to 2 in the bottom of the seventh. Bill Dunn led the local sticklers with three for four.

Hedgecock drove in the deciding run in the second game after an outfield fly in the fifth inning

John Hack of the A's got the bounce in the fifth inning for throwing his glove after a close play at third on a steal by Dick Sinovic.

Yakima moved back into the league leadership by trimming Tri-City, 5 to 2, while Tacoma Tigers were dropping a twin bill to Salem Senators, 7 to 6, and to 1. Spokane Indians nudged Wenatchee Chiefs, 8 to 3, in the league's other tilt.

Firemen Lift B.C. Softball Championship

Capilano manager Bill Brenner and first baseman Bob McLean were ejected from the second game in the second inning after a run-in with the umpires over a called third strike on McLean.

FRIDAY NIGHT'S wrestling card at the Memorial Arena will see the return of Salvatore Flores for a match with the Yankee Kid. In other bouts, Ed Williams engages Ivan Gorky and Yaqul Joe tackles Glen Stone. Starting time is 8:30.

Trail (CP)—Vancouver Firemen defeated Trail 5 to 1 Wednesday night to win the British Columbia senior men's softball championship.

The Firemen captured the best-of-three series in two straight games. They took the first game 5 to 1 Friday night.

Pete Proctor, on the mound for Vancouver, turned in a four-hit pitching job while striking out 15. His teammates reached Trail hurler Johnny Fullthorpe for 10 safeties.

Both teams were tied 1 to 1 until the sixth inning when the Vancouver team scored a run on singles by Bill Warren and Proctor.

Vancouver added two more runs in the seventh inning when Frank Ambler slammed a home run with Roy Riley on base. Firemen finished off the scoring with a singleton in the eighth.

Trail (CP)—Vancouver Firemen defeated Trail 5 to 1 Wednesday night to win the British Columbia senior men's softball championship.

The Firemen captured the best-of-three series in two straight games. They took the first game 5 to 1 Friday night.

Many Job-Seekers If War Industries Boom

OTTAWA (CP)—Should Canadian industry gear again for war-time production it probably will find a bevy of feminine job hunters pounding on the door.

There will be quite a number of them. The Labor Department reports 21 per cent of Canada's present labor force wears skirts. Most of them will be young. A department official says more than 40 per cent of women in industry at June, 1949, were under 25. At June, 1950, more than 637,000 single women were working in Canada.

Some will be really anxious for those jobs. Labor Department figures disclose that in May, 1950, there were 77,983 women seeking jobs in all provinces excluding Manitoba.

A large number of older women will be in the group. Age, a barrier in peacetime, was no hindrance to women war workers during the last war.

"You'd be surprised at what older workers can do," said a Labor Department official. "In the last war I saw women between 60 and 65 doing excellent work and taking difficult jobs right alongside the younger women."

Maybe the reopening of the war plants will create jobs for the 11,950 older women reported looking for work last May.

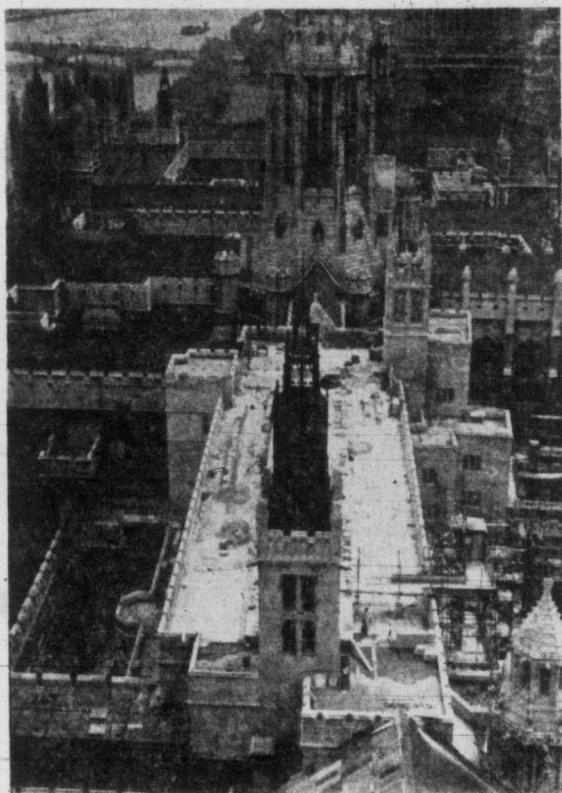

Placement of older workers has been one of the most serious problems facing the National Employment Service since Canadian industry swung back into peacetime production.

Reopening of the war plants might help the housewife now locked in a penny-to-purse struggle with the cost of living. In June this year more than 302,000 married women were working in Canada.

Wages are high in war work, an ideal means of balancing the family budget.

May Seek To Have Laws On Injunctions Removed

The trade union committee of the C.C.F. is to consider putting forth amendments to provincial and federal labor laws to do away with issuance of court injunctions to restrict unions from such things as picketing.

This was learned Wednesday night by the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council in a letter from R. K. Gervin, B.C. chairman of B.C. executive committee of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

Mr. Gervin, in his letter, stated the C.C.F. committee was anxious to hear from all unions who feel they have suffered as a result of injunctions. The committee, he said, will then proceed to draft amendments to both the Criminal Code of Canada and the B.C. Trade Union Act to do away with these restrictions.

Arthur Turner, M.L.A. for East Vancouver, is head of the special party committee.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

"That's the craziest trick I've ever seen in my life," gasped North.

"That's nothing," said Pessimistic Pete. "Stick around, old fellow, and you'll see even crazier tricks."

The trick to which North referred was the second trick of the hand shown today. I wonder how many readers will figure out what Pessimistic Pete actually did.

West's opening lead was the six of hearts, and dummy won with the queen. What is the craziest—and yet most sensible—thing that declarer can do at this point?

Pessimistic Pete was in no hurry to make his second play. After about a minute, however, he led a low diamond from the dummy!

East won with the ten of diamonds and returned a spade. Pete won in his own hand, entered dummy with a trump, and ruffed a low diamond. He then drew the rest of the trumps and entered dummy with the ace of clubs.

The ace and king of diamonds dropped East's remaining cards in that suit, allowing South to discard the two losing spades. The low diamonds were now good, but South needed only one of them in order to discard his losing club.

The remarkable play at trick two was not as crazy as it seemed. South wanted to establish the diamonds without losing control of trumps. He couldn't tell how either red suit was going to break.

The line of play Pete adopted assured his contract against any 4-2 break in each of the red suits. He needed to ruff only one diamond after giving one away and therefore could stand a 4-2 trump break. Since the diamond ruff occurred on the second round, he didn't have to fear an over-ruff.

Pete might have made his contract by some risky line of play that involved guessing how the missing cards were distributed, but the line of play that he actually adopted required no guesswork and entailed no risks.

HOLLYWOOD REVIEW

Donna Has Prospects Of Real Screen Love

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—After years of puppy love with Mickey Rooney and platonic affairs with Alan Ladd, Donna Reed is finally getting some real romance on the screen.
"I feel like a new woman," she glowed. "I've got a new home, a new baby, a new contract and a new kind of role—the first I've ever had with any sex in it."
The sweet-faced actress has just signed a deal with Columbia. Her first assignment is to make a romantic comedy in "The Hero" with John Derek, the most popular bobbysox idol of the moment.
"It's a real witchy part," she declared. "I couldn't be happier. And for the first time I get to wear some appealing clothes. I have the first low-cut evening gown I've ever worn in films."
Donna did 20 pictures in eight years at M.G.M. and she was inevitably cast as the home-type girl. Either she ended up in a nursery, as in "Green Dolphin Street," or she held hands with Mickey Rooney. "Or I was a mother with three children."

NO SOAP
"The only picture I had any romance in was 'They Were Expendable,'" she sighed. "I had some wonderful love scenes with John Wayne. But then the real-life counterparts of our roles saw the picture and complained that they were both married and that there had been no romance between them. So the scenes were cut out of the picture."
Her film romances with Alan Ladd were no better.
"I played the widow of Alan's war buddy. The studio felt veterans would resent it if Alan tried to make love."
"And in 'Chicago Deadline' I was dead when the picture started. Alan and I were supposed to have some love scenes in dream sequences. But at that time, fantasy had failed at the box-office and the studio didn't want to take a chance on it."

VIII
I brought Lou Bryer up to date on most of the details of Phajol's murder while we sipped our beers. He refused a second beer and his refusal indicated he was on a job. I was sure the job had something to do with Phajol.
I spoke to the bartender: "How's the Norton kid? Has he come out of it yet?"
"He's still sleeping it off. Too bad about that guy. The only thing wrong with him is that he doesn't have Dominico's dough. He hasn't done a day's work in a year. His mother has some money and that spoiled him."
"Dominico's a tough boy for his age," I said. "He sure can punch."
I told Bryer about the incident in the taproom in which Dominico punched the Norton boy. After that Bryer excused himself and I went out to the lobby. Foster, the clerk, was busy with his bookkeeping. I put a $5 bill on the desk and said:
"I'd like some answers to some questions."
Foster lost interest in his books. "I don't know if I can give you the right answers."
"Here's a sample question. How long have you known Lou Bryer?"
NEW ACQUAINTANCE
Foster looked relieved. "Why, never, before today."
"If he was a total stranger, why did you let him check in without requiring payment in advance when he had no luggage?"
Foster colored slightly. "He—he had credentials."
I laughed. "Sure he had, but he didn't show them when I saw him registering! The fact is he arrived before I did today. You may as well admit you let him look inside Phajol's briefcase."
Foster became slightly pale. "I did not!"
"Don't give me that! Straight-Flush Johnnie was sitting in the lobby, and he told me he saw you take the briefcase out and carry it upstairs. Bryer already had a room up there, didn't he?"
Foster looked flustered. He gazed around the lobby. It was empty. Straight-Flush Johnnie was gone.
"You're handing me a line!" said Foster. "Straight-Flush Johnnie wasn't here then!"
I grinned. "So the lobby was deserted when you took out the briefcase?"
I picked up my $5 bill as he turned red as a beet.
"Thanks for telling me!" Foster stared as I walked to the stairway. I heard him swear under his breath, then move to the switchboard and place a call. That meant Bryer was in the hotel. Probably in conference with Gremcheck. I went to Pat Phajol's room and knocked.
"Who is it?" I told her. She said: "I'm not dressed."
"Then put on something. This is important."
There was a minute's delay, and the door opened. Pat frowned as I entered. She pulled her wrap together at the throat.
"Lou Bryer, the insurance investigator, is in the hotel. He's probably with Pete Gremcheck."
Her eyes widened. "I don't understand."
MADE GUESSES
"Plenty. I made inquiries of Bryer before I took the job with your father. Bryer is sharp. He would guess that I was going to bodyguard your father on this job. Gremcheck probably told him about Dominico's intention to buy a large order of diamonds. Bryer's company insures Gremcheck's company."
She seemed a little slow getting the idea.
"You—you think they killed dad and took the diamonds?"
"Why not? I've just found out that Bryer had a look at the inside of the briefcase you left in the safe. He knew right away the diamonds weren't there. Who ever killed your father knew that much. That makes Bryer our hottest prospect. Gremcheck is probably in with him. Gremcheck could easily dispose of the diamonds. His reputation is established and no one would ever think of checking anything he sold."
Pat sat down on the edge of her bed. Her hands were tightly doubled into fists. When she lifted her eyes I saw anger directed at me.
"You—you tipped Bryer off—you admit you talked to him about this job! You're responsible for what happened to dad!"
"No, Pat, I'm not. When I talked to Bryer, I knew nothing about the job. Bryer must have known all about it at the time from Gremcheck. Gremcheck called you, remember?"
She wasn't convinced. I stepped over to the phone and asked to be connected with Lou Bryer. There was a moment's wait, then Bryer answered. I motioned to Pat, and she came up to the phone.
REMEMBERS VOICE
"Hello, Lou?" I said. "Can I see you a minute?"
I held the receiver so that Pat could hear Bryer say: "All right, Del. Come up to my room. No. 28 on the third floor."
"Fine. I'll be right up."
Pat was staring incredulously. I grinned. "That's the man who said he was Gremcheck, isn't it?"
She nodded. "I'll remember that voice as long as I live."
Pat was most puzzled than angry as I left her. I readily found No. 28. Bryer was alone. I was pretty sure he had taken the call in Gremcheck's room, and I was curious as to what floor that room was on. Bryer eyed me down his nose as he offered me a cigarette.
"Been playing games with the room clerk, haven't you?"
I accepted the cigarette and lit it. "Going to admit you had a look inside that briefcase?"
"Why not? I got the chief of police to introduce me when I landed in town this afternoon and I explained why I wanted to look inside any briefcase Phajol would check into the hotel safe."

Bit Of Old England On Fort Street Attracts Thousands Of U.S. Tourists

Tudor style buildings attract thousands of tourists.

Display windows feature old silver, china, glass, brass and copper wares, mostly imported from England. Majority of tourists visit antique shops during their stay in Victoria. Furniture and silver are popular items.

Claim 90 Per Cent Of Visitors To City Browse Along In 'Antique Row'

Familiar to Victorians but unique to U.S. tourists is "Antique Row" on Fort Street which deals mainly with a vast assortment of curios from all parts of the world.

Ninety per cent of the tourists who come to Victoria are said to visit these curio shops, some out of curiosity, some to buy antiques. Here they can either see or buy anything from brass buttons to expensive old silver and furniture.

An attractive feature of the shops is that many of the buildings are of Tudor design. Even the interiors of some shops have been decorated "Old English."

The majority of the shops are situated between Vancouver and Cook streets, and were it not for a few modern buildings sandwiched between them, the block from an architectural point of view, would be one of the most attractive in the city.

KNOWN BY THOUSANDS
"Antique Row" originated from this collection of shops, which are all comparatively new. This section of Fort Street is known by this name by thousands throughout the United States.

Most shops specialize in some form of antiques. One dealer may carry a large collection of brassware. Others feature silverware and furniture or glass and china. A few are stocked with all types of antiques, curios and oddities from all parts of the world.

The bulk of antiques are imported from England. Twenty years or more ago it was possible to collect a fair assortment of old furniture, tableware and ornaments in Victoria when old estates were broken up. But today, dealers say, there are not enough antiques available in the city to meet the demand.

This year dealers report tourists have been buying antiques more than ever. High on the list of sought-after antiques are silverware, china, and furniture. Glass and brassware was being sold to a lesser extent.

BRISK TRADE

Dealers said they are doing a brisk trade in new Sheffield plate, one of the few currently manufactured items of merchandise sold on antique row. Tourists pay between $200 and $600 for silver sets or pieces.

"We sell new silverware because it is easily obtainable from England," one dealer explained. "The average Britisher is unable to buy it because of the heavy tax. On the other hand old silver is tax free and it is being bought in England.

Furniture, especially chairs and small desks, are also popular items. The majority of furniture in stock is of the Victorian era.

"It is very difficult for us to get furniture from England dating back more than 150 years," said one dealer. Real old furniture is as much sought after by Britishers as it is here.

SECOND-HAND

He said the reason why Victorian furniture was so easily obtainable was because it was classed as secondhand furniture in England. "Over there furniture has to be more than 150 years old before it is classed as an antique," he said.

Old furniture was popular with tourists because of the sounder workmanship, the dealer continued. The wood usually was of a better quality.

The majority of buyers were people earning moderate incomes.

"They all seem to know what they want and are careful in making a choice," he said. "Young people of today are more conscious of antiques than they were 20 years ago. They also seem to know the value of merchandise."

Butter bread. Top each slice with beans and sprinkle with grated cheese. Cut bacon slices in half. Top each sandwich with two slices of bacon in criss-cross fashion. Broil until the cheese melts and bacon is crisp. Serves 6.

Manning Rumored To Lead Federal Social Crediters

EDMONTON (CP)—The Edmonton Bulletin said in a news-page story Wednesday that Premier Ernest Manning of Alberta may be asked to take official leadership of the National Social Credit Party at the Dominion convention Oct. 18-20 at Regina.

Present leader of the Social Credit Party in Canada is Solon E. Low, Member of Parliament for Peace River, who was elected to the position by the 1946 national convention.

The story says:

"It is believed that Mr. Low would continue to lead the Social Credit Party in the House of Commons if the Alberta Premier accepts leadership of the party's accelerated "On to Ottawa" campaign."

MODERN ESCALATORS MAKE SHOPPING EASY AT THE BAY

By ART STOTT

Long before Elsie the Cow had been accepted as a symbol of abounding health and vitality, charm, romance and the social graces, Cecil French was trying to relieve the miseries of less publicized animals.

Now, after 55 years of manufacturing and finding a worldwide sale for his remedies — 30 years from his headquarters at the corner of Gordon and Courtney Streets — the 78-year-old veterinarian thinks it's about time to let someone else step in and take over the business. He's not in a hurry. There won't be any forced sale. But Cecil French is looking around at prospects among young men.

IN A DAY when Victoria was a little more staid—a little more inclined to the attitude implied by its name—a younger Cecil French raised a few eyebrows with a cartoon advertising technique that helped to popularize his product. People didn't speak of worms even when discussing their dogs at that time.

Nevertheless, the first vermicide put up in capsule form—the product of his invention—found a ready market. Orders came from Japan and Europe as well as other distant parts. His North American business was big.

London-born French came to Canada to farm. He landed in Halifax in 1889 with two improved large white Yorkshire pigs. He sold them to the province of Nova Scotia and they became the nucleus of the present popular stock that he regards as the best bacon hog available.

When one of his two pigs fell ill the veterinarian, who attended them, noticed French's keen interest in animals. The professional man suggested the young immigrant attend courses at McGill University's veterinary department.

A WEAKNESS in algebra nearly excluded him. He asks today what algebra has to do with his work. But the enrolment was small and Cecil French was accepted. It is his boast that he made 100 per cent in all subjects in the course, won scholarships and did post-graduate work at Munich.

From it he returned to the United States, published a book on "Surgery of the Dog," and opened a practice in Washington, D.C. At one time he treated the ailing pet of Alice Roosevelt in the White House. While practising he devised his capsules for worming medicine. It was too difficult to give doses in liquid or powder form to fractious dogs. In time he left his practice to specialize in medicine for small pets, dogs and cats.

Following service in the First World War, he decided to come to Victoria. He'd paid a visit in 1912 and wanted to live here.

THE STORY of his successes is a well-known chapter in local business history. His headquarters are still on the plot of ground where, he explains, the Hudson's Bay Company erected the first mud hut outside the old Fort. It was built for a Roman Catholic padre who had previously conducted services in the messroom of the Fort and had found the odor of stale liquor and tobacco smoke a bit incongruous during divine services.

In addition to supplying pet owners and breeders, Cecil French had a large market among fox farmers. When fox furs fell from wide public favor, that branch of sales fell, too. Now, he says, reports from St. Pierre and Miquelon indicate a new swing back to fox by the fashion stylists of Paris. That should create a demand for more foxes and, in turn, more orders for his medicines.

YOU WONDER why Cecil's surname is spelled French with a capital "F" while his remedies are "french" with lower case letters? His explanation is simple. He says that 200 or 250 years ago there wasn't any capital "F" in English type. When the Duke of Marlborough reported on the activities of the enemy at Blenheim he spelled it "french." The names ffinnes, ffoliot and ffoolles follow the old system.

The present capital "F" he states, was formed by joining the two small letters—the stuttering "fs" if you like. As far as he's concerned: A good many people whose names begin with "ff" have carried it on just for swank. My family didn't, but I grabbed it for business purposes, and it's been a very good trade-mark.

Slow Bicycle, Stilt Races Head Field Day

Bev Koski gives all her attention and concentration to balancing herself in slow bicycle race. She finished third.

One of most popular events was stilt race. Both boys and girls ran 50-yard race on two-foot stilts. Two boys out of 10 finished three-mile stilt race.

Boy Plods Three Miles On Stilts To Win Park-Playground Feature

Three miles is a long way to walk for any boy, but three miles on stilts is remarkable. A three-mile stilt race, won by seven-year-old Stanley Belobaba, was just one of the many events at the city playgrounds' annual field day at Royal Athletic Park, Wednesday afternoon.

Blessed with perfect weather, the show was witnessed by a large crowd of screaming youngsters, as well as a good number of parents and their friends. Playground director Gordon Hartley had every conceivable event from decorated vehicles to a pie-eating contest.

TUMBLING DISPLAY

One of the features was a fine display of tumbling and pyramids staged under the direction of Mrs. M. Birkenhead and George Smith.

Prizes were awarded at the end of the day by Ald. C. F. Banfield. Dorothy Tubbs was recorder, Jim Johnson was starter and judges were Gerry Koski and Margaret Birkenhead.

All playgrounds will be open

VISITING FIREMEN

Chiefs To Come Here For 42nd Convention

Fire chiefs from every part of Canada will converge on Victoria for the 42nd annual convention of the Dominion Association of Fire Chiefs.

Victoria's Chief Robert T. Brindle reports 250 reservations have been made for the convention which opens Sept. 5 and concludes Sept. 8.

Fire marshals and agents of fire equipment manufacturers will be in attendance. Manufacturers are expected to arrange displays at the Crystal Garden.

Many of those attending here will move to San Francisco to attend the international fire chiefs convention the following week. Chief Brindle, who is a provincial vice-president of the national association, reports there will be speeches by well-known Canadian and U.S. experts in many phases of fire fighting and prevention, and spectacular demonstrations of equipment.

Ex-Net Greats Winners In Donkey Game

Ex-basketball "greats" proved to be more than a team of Gyro Club members could handle in a three-inning game of donkey baseball Wednesday night.

Close to 4,000 fans saw the Gyros lose out by two runs in a 3 to 1 decision. Dodo McKay's home run in the first inning and Gerry Brown's second-inning run cinched the game for the cagers.

However, Gyros came back with more kick than either the basketball gang, or the donkeys, to win the donkey soccer game by a 2 to 1 score.

The Eagles' Band and the Eagles' Ladies' Auxiliary Drill Team gave an outstanding display before the games got under way.

In the pie-eating contest Ron Chamberlain proved to be the best at getting down the most in the shortest possible time. Program prize-winners were Mrs. Elshaw, 1812 Cook Street, who won a mantle radio, and David Whitlaw of Langford, who won a trilight.

Motorist Gets 7-Day Jail Term

A seven-day jail term and a six-month license suspension, was imposed against Arlin Singh, 2806 Rose Street, by Magistrate A. I. Thomas in city police court today.

Through counsel Gordon Cameron, he pleaded guilty to a charge of drunken driving. Cameron also pleaded guilty for his client to a charge of driving a car while his license was under suspension. A fine of $15 was imposed. The young East Indian was ordered to post a $200 bond to be of good behaviour for six months.

Lawyer To Appeal Judge's Refusal

Ernest L. Tait, lawyer, announced today he would appeal the decision of Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane who dismissed his application calling on city police Magistrate H. C. Hall to show cause why a traffic charge should not be dismissed against his wife.

Mr. Tait claims that police should never have laid a charge against Mrs. Tait as the charge could not be supported by facts. The charge arose when cyclist Thomas Banister is alleged to have collided with Mrs. Tait's parked car.

New Wage Scale For Lumber Yard Workers Approved

A new wage scale for truck drivers, shippers, swampermen and yardmen of Stewart and Hudson Retail Lumber Yards here was announced today by the Labor Relations Board.

The scale ranges from $1.17 an hour for heavy truck drivers to $1.07 for yardmen.

The new rates were approved by management and representatives of the employees' union—Vancouver Island Drivers' Division 234 of the C.B.R.E. and O.T.W.—in recent conciliation board negotiations.

Appealing Against Sentence To Hang

Murder Conviction, Doukhobor Riots Among Cases For Victoria Sitting

An appeal against a conviction of murder and three appeals connected with the Kootenay Doukhobors riots last spring, are among 30 criminal cases listed for hearing before the fall session of the Court of Appeal here.

Appeal Court will open Sept. 12. List of appeals is one of the heaviest in years and includes 16 civil cases, mostly from Vancouver.

Heading the list is the case of Joseph Arthur Ouellette, convicted of murder by a Vernon assize jury on May 10. He was sentenced by Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane to be hanged Aug. 3, but was granted a stay of execution pending hearing of his appeal.

Ouellette was found guilty of the murder of Mah Sing, an Okanagan market gardener, who was found shot in his lonely shack near Vernon.

Michael Verigin and Joe Podovinkouf are among Doukhobors appealing against convictions of seditious conspiracy in connection with the Kootenay riots in which homes and schools were burned by the members of the fanatical religious sect.

Another is Joe Lebedoff, convicted by Mr. Justice James Coady of unlawful assembly.

Police alleged the three men played a leading part in the riots.

OTHER CASES

Other criminal cases include appeals against conviction of possession of illegal drugs, theft, false pretenses, retaining stolen goods, keeping betting houses and breaking and entering.

Criminal cases listed are: Joseph Arthur Ouellette, murder; R. C. McInnis, theft; Alex Viatkin and Jack Arnold, retaining illegal drugs; Jack Sloan, breaking and entering; Ben Dennison, keeping a betting house; A. J. Cleary, theft; Jagar-Sing, possession of illegal drugs.

R. Belfon, Frank Quickfall and Daniel Quickfall, breaking and entering; P. S. McKay, indecent assault; Michael Veregin and Joe Podovinkouf, seditious conspiracy; I. Foster, retaining; J. P. Elsie, auto theft; M. J. Paton, assault; Peter Olson and A. E. Knight, keeping betting house; H. Erickson, Leslie Legacee and William Tumme, theft; Joe Lebedoff, riotous assembly; Gordon B. Hodges, possession of drugs; D. K. Graham, false pretences; L. D. Hoy, possession of house-breaking tools; William Emery, false pretences; Harry Harris, keeping betting house.

Civil cases: Boundary Sawmills vs. Pacific Western Lumber; Pinder vs. Jacobs; Twaites vs. Dominion Tax Systems; Higgin vs. Crosbie; McWilliam vs. B.C.E.R.; Limberis vs. Dominion Oyster and Fish; Mead vs. Winship; Chemicals Inc. vs. Shanahan; Niemi vs. Poirier; Bilous vs. McCormack; Massop vs. Gilmore; Chaplin vs. Bell; Newman vs. Montagne; James vs. Industrial Sales; Bischoff vs. James and Jones; Cook vs. Tims.

Speed Limit On Burnside Raised

Saanich Council has increased the speed limit on Burnside Road between Harriet and Tillikum Roads from 20 to 30 miles per hour subject to the approval of the R.C.M.P. and on recommendation by the Victoria Automobile Club.

In a letter dated Aug. 1, directors of the Victoria Automobile Club requested Reeve Joseph Casey of Saanich to extend the speed limit 10 miles an hour on this section. They pointed out Oak Bay had recently increased speed limits from 20 to 30 miles an hour.

Home Burgled, Purse Stolen

Burglars who broke into the home of F. J. T. McPherson, Mount Edwards Apartments, Vancouver Street, during the night, stole a purse containing a wedding ring, a fountain pen, several cheques for small amounts and some change in silver, city police reported today.

Police said the screen was pried off an open window to enable the burglar to gain entry.

Whaley-Eisenhower Gain Seniors' Golf Finals

It will be Ralph Whaley, Seattle, against Ed Eisenhower, Tacoma, in tomorrow's 18-hole final for the grand championship of the Seniors' Northwest Golf Association tournament at the Victoria club. The pair will tee off at 10.

In today's semifinals Whaley, defending champion, defeated A. S. G. Musgrave, Victoria, 4 and 2, while Eisenhower won from Roy Wood, Portland, 8 and 7.

It will be the second time Whaley and Eisenhower have met in the final, the former winning over the Oak Bay links in 1947.

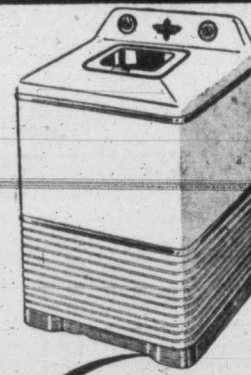

After being three down at the turn in his match with the titleholder, Musgrave made a game attempt to get back in the game by winning the 11th when Whaley hooked his tee shot across the road. Whaley regained his three-hole margin on the 12th but Musgrave sliced it again with a win on the 14th. Musgrave promptly three-putted the 15th to go three down again and lost the 16th for the match.

Winning the first four holes Eisenhower had no trouble in his match, against Wood, being six up after nine holes.

Navy League Head Asks Retraction By Aldermen

A "proper retraction" of their statements at Tuesday's City Council meeting relative to Forrest L. Shaw and the Navy League lease of Prince Robert House was asked of Ald. Waldo Skillings and Ald. Frank G. Mulliner today by Thomas Moore, executive secretary of the Navy League of Canada, Vancouver Island Division.

Request was contained in a letter to Mayor Percy George.

"To say the least, Ald. Skillings and Ald. Mulliner made irresponsible statements which indicate their complete lack of knowledge of the subject matter and in view of the existing facts should now make proper retraction, so that the citizens of Victoria should now be informed of the truth," Mr. Moore wrote.

Ald. Skillings had stated that Mr. Shaw worked in a "dual capacity" and "tied the city up" for 20 years on the lease made 10 years ago, which calls for another 10-year renewal, if the Navy League so desires.

"My letter has particular reference to the report that Mr. Shaw acted in a dual capacity," said Mr. Moore.

"The lease in question was drawn in 1940 for 10 years between Victoria and the Navy League of Canada with the option of renewal for a further 10 years, if the Navy League so desired."

"At the time of the drawing of the original lease, Mr. Shaw was not president of the local branch of the Navy League and further, was not on the executive or even a member of the organization.

"In 1945, he was invited to join the league and subsequently became chairman of Victoria branch and president of the Vancouver Island Division."

Mr. Moore wrote in conclusion: "I would further like to point out to Ald. Skillings the fact that a 'higher level approach' to the Navy League on the matter rather than his suggested method of finding a loophole in the lease first, would be more in keeping with our Canadian and British way of procedure."

MARY HAWORTH'S MAIL

Young widow and boy, 23, sweethearts more than year; she wants marriage, he won't agree.

Dear Mary Haworth: I am a young widow of 25, and for 14 months I have been going with a young man 23. I love him very much and he says he loves me, too. The problem is he cannot make up his mind to get married. He says he isn't ready yet.

John lives alone in a small furnished apartment, and I, too, have an apartment, furnished with my own things. Each of us has a good job, and I feel that inasmuch as he has no family in this city, and since we are so much in love, it would be simpler if we got married.

We have been very close in the time we have gone together. We see each other constantly and he has supper every night with me at my apartment, not giving me or himself a chance to see or do anything different. When I speak of marriage he either changes the subject or doesn't answer, except to say that he doesn't know when he will be ready to marry.

I hope you will be able to tell me how to make John realize that any two people who are as well mated in every way and as much in love as we are, should get married. Please answer soon.—L. R.

LAD CAN'T "SEE" HER AS HIS WIFE

Dear L. R.: It seems to me that you and John are separated by irreconcilable misunderstanding of each other's psychology. And it is my impression that marriage between you is out of the question, no longer in the cards, if indeed the possibility ever existed in John's thoughts. Reading between the lines of your letter, I gather that you are drifting in an affair. Your naive claim to being well mated in every way implies much. And I think that from John's viewpoint, which he is either unable or unwilling to verbalize, that your participation in this type of relationship disqualifies you to be his wife, no matter how emotional he feels about you.

Whether or not it makes sense, the average unmarried man of immature mind tends to classify all persons as good or bad, and to feel that sex experience marks the great difference.

BACHELORS ARE CYNIC SUITORS

According to the green bachelor's way of thinking, the young widow or divorcee is potentially licentious per se, probably. Therefore if she, in excessive loneliness, mistakenly yields to his experimental bid for a liaison, she thoroughly hangs herself in his estimation, by "proving his theory,"—even though the potentials of true love may have been theirs, and could have been developed in conventional courtship.

No doubt something of the sort accounts for your failure with John, who balks at marriage despite loving you. He has an "ideal" image of his wife-to-be, and marrying a picture doesn't square with the reality. There's no use fighting that state of mind. You can't change it by pleading or argument.

John doesn't know how right he is, in saying he's not ready to marry yet. He is extraordinarily unfit for the helpmeet role—as witness his greedy, dependent, opportunistic exploitation of your virtuous devotion. In restricting your social life to closeted home-evenings with him, in using your apartment as a hang-out and food bar every night, he is behaving destructively as regards you. And in self-defence you should cut quits on this futile arrangement, that is costing you heartache and wasted years.

MRS. JAMES A. BICKEL

Southern Visitor Heads Clubs, Versatile Hobbies

By MARGUERITE DALZIEL

A boundless energy and enthusiasm for "doing something to make others happy" is reflected in the whole personality of charming, effervescent Mrs. James A. Bickel.

The visitor from Long Beach, her husband, and her sister, Mrs. S. H. Donehower, Beverly Hills, left their southern homes at the beginning of this month for a leisurely tour of the coast. They are spending three days in Victoria.

Charming and gay, with pleasant, winning mannerisms, the attractive, well-dressed woman might easily leave one with the impression that she has nothing more serious to do than indulge in her favorite hobby of trimming hats with all types of fresh flowers.

HEADS MUSIC GROUP

But after a few moments in her company, you learn that she has many different interests, both civic and social.

Mrs. Bickel, president and officer of a host of clubs and organizations in her home city, has the distinction of being the first woman to head the Long Beach Philharmonic Orchestra, a post which she has held for two years.

She is keenly interested in the organization, not only because she loves music, but because, "it means so much to young people coming along."

For five years she has been a member of Long Beach Parks Board. Upon her arrival in the city, she lost no time in contacting the local parks board, and was delighted with plans made for her to tour city parks.

She is actively engaged as a member of the Armed Services Y.M.C.A. Board of Directors, a board which, until she joined, was composed entirely of men. "But that is not all," she chuckles merrily, and tells you she is past president of several other clubs.

"I became interested in club work years ago," she states. "And when we lived in Montana, more than 20 years ago, I was known as the 'Red Cross Woman.'"

Mrs. Bickel's delightful hobby follows, or precedes her almost as much as her remarkable service record.

"I'm a natural person and I like natural things," she says with a wave of her small hands. "That is why fresh flowers appeal to me."

"A few moments before I leave the house for a business or social function, I slip out to the garden and search for some particular blossom I want for my hat," she laughs.

"My husband and I have been married more than 30 years, and he still can't understand why I have to wait until the last minute to decorate my hat," she adds.

LANGUAGE OF FLOWERS

Then a little more seriously she tells you that "flowers are as temperamental as people."

"Some days, they refuse to stay in their proper place, they fall out, or wilt quickly. Then I know that they don't want to be together and I must start all over again."

She says she can't sew or trim hats in the ordinary way, but her skill with fresh flowers has won her fame among her friends and associates.

The Bickels, and Mrs. Donehower, who traveled as far as Forbes Landing on the island, will spend a few days in Vancouver, on their homeward journey.

The new concentrated prune juice being packed in midget-sized five and one-half-ounce cans is now in all the markets. Dilute it with equal parts of pineapple juice and ice water for a refreshing summery drink.

Here is today's household hint: Whipping of cream is speeded with addition of three or four drops of lemon juice. If cream is over-whipped, try pouring a bit of cold sweet milk into it, and stir slowly.

Party-Filled Week For Today's Newlyweds

Today's wedding principals, Miss May Smith and Lieut. James I. Murray, R.C.O.C., who will make their future home in Montreal, have been widely entertained during the past week.

In their honor, Col. T. C. Evans, uncle of the bride, and Mrs. Evans, entertained at the cocktail hour at their home, 2564 Heron Street.

A buffet supper party given by Mrs. G. C. Smith, honored her daughter and Lieut. Murray. Pink and white blossoms in a cut-glass bowl centred the supper table, where Mrs. Smith presided, assisted by Mrs. W. Benson Smith and Miss Joyce Folbigg.

Earlier this week Mrs. R. S. MacLeod was a dinner-hour hostess at Chez Marcel for her nephew and his bride. Covers were also laid for Mrs. Smith, Mrs. J. A. Murray and Mr. Donald MacLeod.

Following the wedding rehearsal Tuesday evening, Mrs. Murray, Monterey Avenue, entertained for her son and his fiancée, and last evening, Philip Connolly, attending as usher, hosted a party at the home of his mother, Mrs. C. E. Connolly, Oak Bay Avenue, in their honor. Guests numbered 20.

Mr. Ted Bayles, Langford, is holidaying in Seattle for a few days.

Mrs. W. Galey, Kindersley, Sask., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Cade, Island Highway, Langford.

Vancouverite, Mrs. Nell McNeil, is holidaying on the island, and at present is staying at "Happyholm," Leigh Road, Langford.

Mrs. A. Diebel, accompanied by her daughter Sandra, has come from Sudbury, Ont., to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Shillaber, Westvale, Langford Lake.

Visitors from Kale, B.C., Mr. and Mrs. G. Miller and their son George, are guests of Mrs. Miller's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Carr, Langford.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Freemantle, Glen Lake, have as guests Mr. Freemantle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Freemantle, Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Turner, Bowker Avenue, have just returned from a two-month vacation in Ontario and Detroit. En route home they also visited in Edmonton.

Here to visit their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carnegie of Edmonton. They will be guests of Mr. Carnegie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Carnegie, "Angus," Langford, and also of Mrs. Carnegie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Hutchinson, Happy Valley.

Miss Rosamary Bullen, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. F. Bullen, "Marshwood," Langford, and her friends, Misses Kathie and Eleanor Paddon and Miss Edythe Smart, left today for Montreal where they will board the Empress of Canada on Aug. 25, sailing for England. Mr. and Mrs. Bullen are accompanying their daughter and her friends to the mainland, where they will spend a few days before returning to Langford.

More than 40 members and friends of Baptist Young People's Union of First Baptist Church gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. Phillips, 2595 Cook Street, following church service, to honor Miss Gwyneth Phillips, August bride-to-be. A pleasant hour was spent in singing of favorite hymns. Miss Phillips was presented with a silver cake stand engraved "B.Y.P.U. '50" as a token of appreciation, particularly for her capable leadership during several terms of office as president. Mrs. J. Rogers entertained with vocal selections. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

TODAY'S RECIPE

TOMATO PINK MOULD

One tablespoon gelatin, ¼ cup cold water, 1 10-ounce can tomato soup, 1 cup sieved cottage cheese, 1 cup mayonnaise, 1 cup diced celery, 1 teaspoon minced onion, ¼ cup silvered, blanched almonds, 2 tablespoons chopped sweet pickles.

Soak gelatin in cold water for five minutes. Heat soup and add the soaked gelatine, stirring until dissolved. Chill. Combine the cheese, mayonnaise, celery, onion, almonds and sweet pickles. Add to the gelatin mixture, blending well. Pour into one large mould or individual moulds which have been lightly oiled or rinsed with cold water. Chill until set. Unmould on lettuce and serve with mayonnaise. Yield: 10 to 12 servings. If desired, ½ cup chopped green pepper and ½ cup diced cucumber may be used in place of the almonds and pickles.

First to shake hands with Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Charles Banks at Government House yesterday were Premier and Mrs. Byron Johnson, third and second from the left, and Hon. R. W. Mayhew and Mrs. Mayhew. Mrs. Banks wore a smartly styled silk faille ensemble, with dress of black and white diagonal stripe and short jacket trimmed in the same stripe. Mrs. Johnson chose deep cinnamon all-over lace, sable furs, brown accessories and a mauve orchid corsage. Mrs. Mayhew was gowned in rose polka dot silk with matching hat and accessories.

Bromley and Miss McLean are Vancouver visitors in the city at present.

Piddington and Mrs. Arthur Fraser.

Many Guests, City And Out-Of-Town At Party Reception In Government House

Informality marked what may be the last large party at which His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Charles A. Banks will entertain before they leave Government House in October.

Planned first as a garden party, the affair was held indoors owing to the fact that unusually heavy rains earlier in the week made use of lawns inadvisable.

There was no formal receiving line. Accompanied by their aides, His Honor and Mrs. Banks entered the ballroom at 4 o'clock and stood on the raised dais which was surrounded with bright summer flowers. Guests came forward to shake hands by ones and twos and in larger groups.

Later His Honor and Mrs. Banks mingled with the large crowd and chatted informally.

Windows and doors were opened to the sunlight and many guests strolled on the terrace just beyond the ballroom where there is an unparalleled view of the Strait of Juan de Fuca and the Olympics.

TWO BANDS

The Canadian Scottish Regimental Band was in attendance and the Scottish Pipe Band paraded in the main driveway.

Noted among guests were Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Lethaby, Miss Madge Wolfenden and Mr. and Mrs. Owen Smith. Mrs. J. Higgins, Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes and Mrs. Pearkes talking to Miss K. Cavenagh, a visitor from England, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Seats, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Richards.

Dr. and Mrs. E. Sonet were among guests, also Miss Jean Arnott, Mrs. Robert L. Jermain, Paul W. Meyer, United States consul at Victoria, Mr. and Mrs. William Olive, Mr. and Mrs. Gustin Aish, Mrs. J. B. Munro, Mr. and Mrs. Ewen McKay with Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Selkirk, all of New Westminster.

Mr. H. Thirlwell with Mrs. D. Bamford and Miss M. Gunn, who is visiting her from England, Dr. and Mrs. Harry Johns.

Admiral H. G. deWolf, Flag

Officer Pacific Coast and Lieut. Michael Page, flag lieutenant.

Enjoying the view from the terrace were Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Kennedy, Mrs. E. V. Finland, and Mrs. Gordon Root. Mrs. Gar Dixon, her mother, Mrs. E. Billman and her brother, J. Billman.

A Home In Montreal Awaits This Afternoon's Newlyweds

A charming afternoon bride, May Gertrude Smith, bids farewell to family and friends in this city for she and her husband, Lieut. James Ingraham Murray, R.C.O.C., will leave for Montreal to make their home, following a motoring trip up-island.

The couple repeated marriage vows at 2 this afternoon in St. Barnabas Church before Rev. E. Munn.

Lavendar and cream-toned gladioli blossoms created the setting for the daughter of Mrs. Gertrude C. Smith, 651 Transit Road, and the late C. P. Smith.

Exquisitely embroidered net was mounted over satin in the bridal gown; the full skirt swirling into a train, and the long-sleeved bodice appointed with high, rounded neckline.

A Juliet cap of embroidered net held her full-length veil of misty illusion net, and she carried fragrant gardenias.

A lovely contrast were attendants, Mrs. W. Benson Smith, sister-in-law of the bride, as matron of honor, in pale pink moire taffeta, and Miss Joyce Folbigg, in ice blue moire taffeta, bridesmaid. Both wore coronets of flowers in their hair, and carried colonial bouquets.

The groom, son of Mrs. J. A. Murray, 1546 Monterey Avenue, and the late Lieut.-Col. J. A. Murray, was attended by Val Stewart, Vancouver, as best man, W. Benson Smith, brother of the bride, ushered with Phillip Connolly.

Mrs. Norman Land sang "O

where Dr. J. G. Roberts gave the toast.

Mrs. Smith, in grey-blue crepe, and Mrs. Murray, attired in aqua-toned crepe, assisted in welcoming guests.

For the wedding trip, the bride has chosen a moss-green suit with matching topcoat, brown suede accessories, and gardenia en corsage.

Import Controls Produce Vast New Business Here

OTTAWA (CP)—A trade official estimated Wednesday that Canada's import controls have led to establishment of $1,600,000 worth of new business in Canada.

The controls, in operation since 1948 and now in the process of gradual elimination, have been instrumental in development of more than 500 manufacturing projects in this country, he said.

Though designed for the protection of Canada's dollar reserves, the controls nevertheless led to the construction of a wide variety of new businesses, from production of beer cans in Montreal to rear axle assemblies in St. Catharines, Ont.

Most of the new business has been attracted to the two central provinces of Ontario and Quebec, but the official said the controls spurred development in other provinces as well.

They have led to increased production of gas, power and transportation projects in the lower British Columbia mainland, creation of a new salad and vegetable cooking oil industry in Manitoba and construction of new plants for the recovery of steel scrap in Nova Scotia.

Much of the new capital to build the industries, said the official, was tapped from American sources—businessmen who otherwise would not have considered investing in Canada.

Oxford Prof. Says Bible Version Of Creation Out

CAMBRIDGE, Eng (AP)—The Bible is all wrong about creation and the predicted second coming of Christ and it should be changed, a British professor said today.

Speaking before the modern churchmen's conference, Dr. D. E. H. Whiteley called for "a new translation of the 'picture language' of Bible stories."

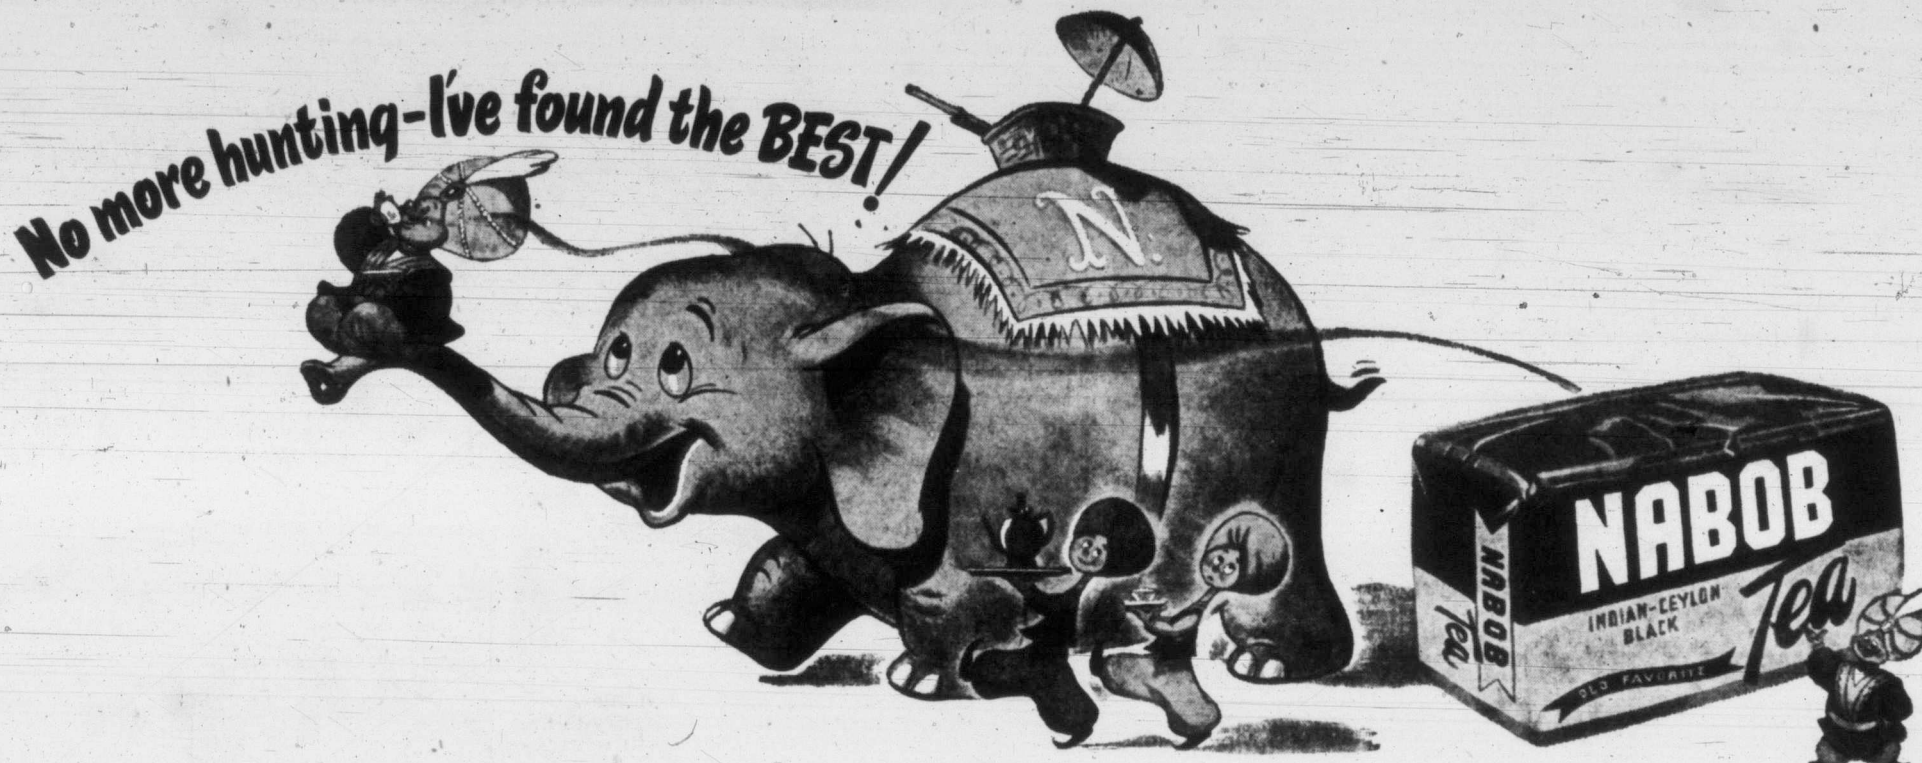

Dr. Whiteley is a Fellow of Jesus College, Oxford University.

"The development of the universe, which in the picture language of Genesis is represented as having achieved its completion at the beginning of time, still continues," he said. He suggested that the second coming of Christ, "like the creation, is going on all the time," and that this should be made plain to people.

He has MORE Anti-knock Quality for you....

Your Imperial Esso dealer has improved Esso and Esso Extra—top-quality gasolines for smoother performance.

Keep up-to-date with Esso and Esso Extra—the modern gasolines. For several months Imperial Esso pumps have been delivering higher anti-knock quality gasoline—just one of the improvements that are part of a continuing program to keep Esso gasolines abreast of car engine requirements.

When you buy Esso and Esso Extra you not only get higher anti-knock quality but in addition, controlled volatility and the best balanced combination of important gasoline qualities to give all-round performance.

Most cars now give satisfactory performance with ESSO—a balanced gasoline with stepped-up anti-knock quality and controlled volatility to give smoother performance at regular price.

Some cars—due to extra high compression, or the condition of the engine—need premium quality gasoline. For those cars your Imperial Esso dealer has ESSO EXTRA with extra anti-knock quality.

Fill your tank with ESSO or ESSO EXTRA. Take your car out on the road. Notice the fast starting, quick warm-up, surging power on hills and highways!

Indians Well Versed, Anthropologist Says

Weird burial and ceremonial customs of the B.C. Indians have been brought to light for the first time by Duff Wilson, Provincial Museum anthropologist, who recently returned from a month's field work among the Indians of the Fraser Valley.

In four large notebooks full of material on Indian life and culture, Mr. Wilson brought back with him information suggesting that the Indians of not so long ago were as well informed about the art of embalming as the Egyptians.

Mr. Wilson was informed by an Indian that the natives of a generation ago were able to preserve the bodies of their dead for indefinite periods. This was done by using certain herbs which were stuffed in the body, the Indian told the anthropologist.

Mr. Wilson was unable to get the Indian to give the secret of what herbs were used and other details connected with embalming which appeared similar to methods used by the ancient Egyptians.

The anthropologist's field trip marked the first time that the Stallo (Fraser) natives have been studied thoroughly. Apart from data on Indian customs, Mr. Wilson took 300 feet of color movies of native fishing methods on the Fraser Canyon.

"I was able to record the Indian names of 17 tribes and their more than 60 villages between the mouth of the Fraser and Five-mile Creek, above Yale," he said. "The language they speak is the same as that spoken around Cowichan but is unintelligible to Indians further up the river and elsewhere on the coast."

The most important event in a Fraser River Indian's life was his potlatch, at which he publicly paid off all the family debts that had accumulated for decades, Mr. Wilson said.

"The word potlatch has been applied indiscriminately to a great variety of events, but on this trip I was able to clarify the important role the potlatch played in the economic life of these natives," he said.

He explained that during the lifetime of an Indian he received the help of his people for many things. This included the presentation of an ancestral name to a son or daughter, the renewal of the family grave box and the changing of the blankets in which the dead were wrapped. All of this called for a feast and for the services of specialists.

In return, Mr. Wilson said the Indian would announce he was going to give a potlatch and pay everyone who had helped him on these previous occasions. He had to be prepared to feed and entertain hundreds of people for several days, as well as pay off all his debts with interest, pay for all services, and give liberal gifts to every man, woman, and child present.

He explained that Indian's liberality on this occasion established his future place in society.

"After the passage of the Indian Act prohibiting potlatches, the natives had to give up this colorful and effective economic system and turn to white men's ways," Mr. Wilson said.

FAMED MODISTE IN TROUBLE

Schiaparelli Forgot She Found Jewels Said Stolen

NICE, France (AP)—Police Wednesday detained Modiste Elsa Schiaparelli and questioned her for hours about some jewels she had reported stolen. She was released Wednesday night and police said no charges would be placed against her, but that they would confiscate $1,485 in United States currency.

One of the world's leading designers of women's clothing, Mme. Schiaparelli was stopped by police as she was about to board a plane for Tunis. She reported Aug. 6 that jewels worth 3,000,000 francs (about $8,500) had been stolen from her. Police said some of these jewels were found in her luggage today.

Police said they found the $1,485 while searching her baggage. Mme. Schiaparelli, police said, will have to pay an administrative fine equal to $148.50 for failing to declare the money.

The 53-year-old fashion leader told newspaper men that she had found in the bottom of a bureau drawer three or four pieces of jewelry she had reported stolen, but that the most valuable piece actually was stolen.

PEACE RIVER FROSTS, SNOW RAVAGE CROP

EDMONTON (CP)—Agriculturists report frost caused heavy damage to grain crops in the Peace River area straddling the northern boundary between Alberta and British Columbia.

Five to seven degrees of crippling frost, which came direct from the Arctic Ocean, hit later-than-usual grain crops south of the Peace River with general harvesting time still a few weeks away. The night before, snow up to five inches covered fields on the north side around Fort St. John, B.C.

12-Minute Meeting Thought Shortest Of Labor Council

The Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council really whipped through business at its regular meeting Wednesday night. Time from the chairman's call to order to adjournment was 12 minutes.

Some thought it was the shortest meeting in the council's 60-year history but as no one had been around that long, no one was sure. Veteran council members agreed, however, it was the shortest they could recall.

One thing the council did decide in the brief session was that the two meetings scheduled for September be called off. This was recommended by the executive committee which pointed out many council officers will be busy next month at the Trades and Labor Congress convention in Montreal.

Next meeting of the council will be Oct. 4.

Britain Sets Export Record

LONDON (Reuter) — Britain set a record for dollar exports to the United States and Canada last month, it was announced.

Goods worth $61,000,000 were exported to the two dollar countries—21 per cent higher than the average for the peak fourth quarter of 1948.

The United States bought goods worth $31,700,000, far above the monthly average of $22,500,000 in the last quarter of 1948.

Exports to Canada equalled $29,300,000, slightly lower than in May, but above the monthly average.

Carnation Protects You

When you buy Carnation evaporated milk you know, before ever you open the can, that you are getting good milk — smooth, uniform, rich, creamy flavored. That is as true today as it was 50 years ago — as true in British Columbia as it is all over the world.

CARDS OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. R. Roe of 1971 Carrick Street, Victoria, B.C., express their heartfelt thanks and appreciation to their many kind relatives and friends for the kind assistance, letters and cards of sympathy, and beautiful floral tributes extended to them in their recent sad bereavement in the loss of their only daughter, Fayella. We would especially like to thank the Spanish and Oak Bay Fire and Police Departments, Dr. G. B. Hoffman, Miss Lillian Dahl, Rev. Dr. J. R. Howell, McCall Bros. Ltd., Funeral Directors, and all others who were so kind—and, and Mrs. R. Roe.

Taegu Outskirts Shelled As Reds Begin Offensive

First Onrush Drives South Koreans Back

FROM UP AND AP DISPATCHES

TOKYO—The Communists shelled the outskirts of Taegu today (Friday) in support of their menacing new offensive less than 20 miles north of the city, provisional capital of South Korea.

Three North Korean divisions attacked on a 15-mile front north and northwest of Taegu Thursday. Their first onrush drove the South Korean defenders back two to three miles.

Early today North Korean artillery on the west bank of the Nakdong River near Waegwan, 12 miles northwest of Taegu, began shelling the outskirts of the capital.

Russia Asked To Stop Red Army In Korea

MacArthur Says U.N. Countries Should Build Up

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States appealed directly to Russia today to call off the Communist North Korean forces and prove by deeds that its professed desires for peace are genuine.

Warren R. Austin, chief United States delegate, made the appeal in the United Nations Security Council shortly after the council failed again in a closed-door session to end its procedural deadlock over the Korean problem.

Earlier in the day, the Security Council heard an appeal from Gen. Douglas MacArthur, urging all U.N. countries to build up ground forces "without delay" in order to "bring the conflict to a successful conclusion quickly."

MacArthur's appeal "to act speedily" was contained in the second report of the unified command, which in effect is the United States government, submitted to the Security Council this afternoon.

Before the council met to receive the report from MacArthur's Command, Soviet delegate Jacob A. Malik, who has obstructed debate with dilatory tactics as council president since he ended the Russian boycott on Aug. 1, summoned the members to an informal private session.

No reason was given for the sudden meeting, an hour before the council's scheduled starting time (at 3 p.m.); observers speculated, however, that Malik may have received new instructions from the Kremlin which would enable him to take a stand on tentative Indian proposals for a committee to establish the war aims and peace settlement of the Korean conflict.

O.C. Cricket

LONDON (Reuter)—Today's close-of-play scores in English cricket:

Yorkshire defeated Kent by an innings and 114 runs. Kent, 100 and 123; Yorkshire, 337.

Somerset, 173; Middlesex, 72 for one (rain).

Leicestershire, 285; Derbyshire, 41 for one (rain).

Worcestershire, 181 for eight; Gloucestershire to bat (rain).

Sussex, 350 for four declared; Northamptonshire, 57 for none (rain).

Nottinghamshire, 117 and 269 for six; Warwickshire, 200.

Lancashire, 281; Hampshire, 96 and 14 for none (rain).

Combined Services, 313 and 95 for none; Essex, 224.

N.Y. Rangers Get Eddie Kullman

NEW YORK (CP)—Eddie Kullman, hustling right winger, today was obtained by New York Rangers of the National Hockey League in a two-for-one trade with Providence Reds of the American Hockey League.

Orvall Lavell and Sheldon Bloomer, defencemen from the disbanded New Haven farm team of the Rangers, are being sent to Providence.

Churchill To Speak

LONDON (CP)—Winston Churchill will address the country for 20 minutes by radio Aug. 26, probably on the subject of Britain's defence crisis.

Stand-By Alert As Hurricane Nears Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (UP)—A hurricane with 140-mile-an-hour winds rolled slowly toward South Florida's "Gold Coast" today. Hurricane warnings were hoisted in the Northern Bahamas and the Florida Peninsula was put on a standby alert.

This is now a large and severe hurricane, chief storm forecaster Grady Norton said in an advisory. He placed the storm centre 480 miles east of Miami.

The advisory said the storm was moving at about 10 miles an hour with winds estimated at 140 miles an hour at the centre. The strongest winds extended 60 miles to the south and 100 miles to the north of centre and "gale winds or higher cover an area 350 miles in diameter."

Hurricane warnings were ordered for Bahamas Islands north of Latitude 24, and a "preliminary hurricane alert is indicated for the State of Florida," the advisory said.

"The centre will move into the Northern Bahamas in about 20 to 24 hours if its present course is maintained."

All emergency hurricane precautions are advised for the Northern Bahamas and Florida should stay on the alert for further advisories tonight," the advisory said.

Suitor Stabs, Pushes, Cuts Girl's Throat

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UP)—Max Shannon, 23, pushed his red-haired sweetheart from a second floor balcony, then cut her throat and stabbed her to death because "she wouldn't marry me."

Police said Shannon readily confessed slaying Sally Barden, 19, the former Mrs. Don Fredrickson, while her 16-month-old son slept nearby.

Neighbors had to beat Shannon away from Miss Barden's body as he stabbed at it repeatedly with a knife last night.

Miss Barden was dressed in a two-piece play suit.

"I couldn't stand it any longer," Shannon said. "She wouldn't marry me and she was the first girl I ever loved."

Miss Barden and Shannon met early this summer in Fort Dodge, Ia. Although a divorcee herself, she refused to marry him after learning that he was divorced and a father, he said.

"I gave up my wife and child for her and we were to be married," Shannon said. "She wouldn't carry out her promise. She was untrue to me."

Uncle o' mine tells me: "I once met King Edward VII. As the evening wore on we got very familiar. I got more familiar than he did."

Feller I know who sells fishin' tackle says: "I don't make spoons to catch the fish. I make 'em to catch the fishermen."

One of them visiting Hollywood song-writers could make a fortune if he took the "blast of the Chinook" and set it to music. It would be bigger than "Mule Train."

Part Isolation For Island If Strike Comes

C.P.R. Coast Ships Would Be Affected

Victoria and the rest of Vancouver Island will be virtually isolated from the mainland of B.C. except for air traffic if the strike of Canadian railways comes about next Monday.

Capt. O. J. Williams, manager of the C.P.R.'s B.C. Coast Service, said today the company's ships would discontinue operations until the strike is settled.

Such a move would be a severe blow to Vancouver Island's booming tourist industry, now at its peak.

Only passenger ships linking the island with the mainland would be those operated by the Black Ball Ferry Line between Victoria, Port Angeles and Seattle, and between Sidney and Anacortes.

Capt. Williams said the cancellation of service would be necessary because of the number of ship and dockside employees involved in the dispute.

These include stewards, assistant pursers, freight clerks, wireless operators, linesmen and elevator operators, all of whom belong to railroad brotherhoods. Express workers would also be affected.

Reject Plan To Increase U.S. Marines

WASHINGTON (UP)—Defence officials have rejected a Congressional proposal that the U.S. Marine Corps be expanded at once to four full-strength divisions of ground troops and four air wings, informed sources said today.

These sources said that the defence department intends to adhere—at least for the time being—to its present mobilization goal of two Marine divisions and two air wings of nine squadrons each.

The Marine Corps plans to have the required 174,000 officers and men in uniform by Oct. 31.

Admiral Forrest P. Sherman, Chief of Naval Operations, was reported reliably to believe that further increase in Marine Corps strength should not even be considered until this present goal is attained. The Marine Corps is part of the navy.

The Marines fighting in Korea now total only about 5,000—a provisional brigade of the 1st Division—Gen. Clifton B. Cates, commandant of the Marines, disclosed recently. But he said an additional large force of leathernecks would be sent there soon.

Over 5,000 Now In Special Force

OTTAWA (CP)—The army said today that more than 5,000 men now are enlisted in Canada's special force for Korea or elsewhere.

That is the number needed for a brigade group such as the one Canada is mustering, said Defence Minister Claxton has said recruiting will continue for reinforcements.

A target of at least 8,000 men is believed to be the official aim.

McAdam In B.C. On Visit Home

VANCOUVER (CP)—The man who keeps B.C. in the eye of every British businessman arrived in Vancouver today for his first visit home in three years.

W. A. McAdam, B.C. Agent-General in London, and Mrs. McAdam hope this visit will provide a "two or three months holiday," with a chance to visit relatives in Duncan.

But it will be a "busman's holiday," at best, Mrs. McAdam said, because her husband "has plenty of business to discuss with government officials in Victoria."

Weather Forecast

Clear and warm today and Friday. Winds southwest 15 m.p.h. Friday afternoon otherwise light. Low tonight, 55; high Friday, 75.

32 American Prisoners Killed By Korean Reds

By HAL BOYLE

WITH U.S. 1st CAVALRY, Korea (AP)—Thirty-two American prisoners were killed today behind their backs were shot dead today by Red Koreans on a hill west of Waegwan just before a U.S. patrol reached the spot.

The Reds tried to kill 37 prisoners in all. But five lived to tell the story. They said the Communists also massacred the wounded as they lay moaning on the ground.

This was in the area bombed Wednesday by 98 B-29s in the heaviest air raid of the war.

The execution of the prisoners was on a hill captured by the

Their bodies were found on a ridge captured this afternoon. The American prisoners were killed only two hours before troops retook the ridge. The hill had been fought over for three days.

The 37 Americans were mowed down by bursts of gunfire.

Three North Korean prisoners were taken after a sharp fire fight nearby. One of them was identified by an American survivor as a member of the squad of killers.

Regimental officers said he would be sent back with recommendation that he be tried as a war criminal.
